ACHESON DEFENDS RECORD

President And Ambassador Of Britain Confer

British Ambassador Has Half Hour Conference At White House

PALESTINE ISSUE UNDER DISCUSSION

(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—(INS) — President Truman and Sir Oliver Franks, British ambassador, conferred for nearly a half hour today on the tinder box Palestine situation.

It was believed that the high level conference dealt with a complete presentation of the views of the United States and Britain over the crisis in the Holy Land.

Franks, on leaving the White House, refused to disclose any details of the meeting with the president. He said:

"I have just been talking with the president and I have presented to him the views of my government on the Palestine problem."

He said any further information would have to come from the White House.

News Conference Later

The chief executive will hold a news conference late today and he may at that time reveal particulars of the White House meeting this morning.

Franks declared he had not seen a London report that Acting Secretary of State Lovett has asked the British to send out reconnaissance planes from Egypt. Five of the planes were shot down by Israeli fighters, furnishing the latest provocative incident in the Palestine situation.

However, White House Secretary Charles G. Ross laughed aside this London report.

Franks made it clear that the

Report Chinese Reds Renewing Tientsin Attack

All North China Appears On Brink Of Falling To Red Armies

CONTINUE EFFORT TO SAVE PEIPING

(BULLETIN)

NANKING, Jan. 13.—(INS)— Chinese Communists were reported today to have renewed their frontal attacks on encircled Tientsin and all North China appeared on the brink of falling to the Red armies.

Only two isolated Nationalist islands of resistance—Tientsin and Peiping—were left in the entire rich northern region of the war-torn country.

The fate of Tientsin, North China's foremost industrial and communications center with a population of some 1,500,000, was expected to be decided in a matter of a few days if not hours.

Eighty-five miles to the northwest, strenuous endeavors were reported under way to elicit from the Communist besiegers of Peiping a cease-fire order, preliminary to negotiation of possible surrender of that majestic city.

Seek To Save Peiping

Civic and cultural leaders of China's former capital of "Imperial Glory" were said to have taken the initiative in contacting the commander of the Communist siege troops.

This was reportedly done so that Peiping, one of the world's outstanding centers of architectural grandeur and historic significance, might be spared the ravages of street fighting.

Renewal of the Red storming onslaughts upon Tientsin was re-

Nominee For Secretary Of State Testifies

Appears Before Senate Foreign Relations Committee To State Position

DENIES ALGER HISS WAS HIS ASSISTANT

(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—(INS)—Dean Acheson, nominated by President Truman to be secretary of state, testified today that he remains on friendly terms with Alger and Donald Hiss, Communist spy case figures.

Acheson appeared before the Senate Foreign Relations committee to defend his record in and out of government and his qualifications for the top cabinet post.

He denied that Alger Hiss, accused by ex-Communist Whittaker Chambers of furnishing secret state department information to a Red spy apparatus, ever was his top assistant.

But he said that Alger's brother, Donald Hiss, held such a position in the state department and "served with complete fidelity."

Demands Loan Handling

Acheson defended his Washington law firm's handling of the 40

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—(INS)—Dean Acheson, President Truman's nominee for secretary of state, today echoed the president's declaration that "no change whatever" is contemplated in United State foreign policy.

Acheson made the statement when asked by Sen. Vandenberg (R) Mich., for a comment on his policy toward Russia at a public hearing before the senate foreign relations committee.

Donald Hiss is a member of Acheson's law firm. Like his brother Alger, he was a state department employe at the time of the spy ring described by Chambers was operating in Washington.

Chairman Connally (D) Tex., touched off the explosive Hiss brothers issue when he cited to

Dr. Bunche Opens Peace Parley

Negotiations Between Israel And Egypt Are Opened At Rhodes

(BULLETIN)

RHODES, Jan. 13. — (INS)— United Nations Mediator Dr. Ralph Bunche opened Palestine armistice negotiations between Israel and Egypt today with an implied appeal to Great Britain not to prejudice the delicate Middle East situation.

Dr. Bunche addressed his message to "all governments" but apparently was referring to British military movements that followed the shooting down by Israel of five Royal Air Force planes near the Palestine-Egyptian border last Friday.

Speaking to the Arab and Jewish delegates who for the first time sat down at a conference table as equal negotiators, Dr. Bunche asked all nations "to avoid incidents and acts which might jeopardize constructive progress of deliberations toward an armistice."

Dr. Bunche continued:

"I have in mind not only the

Bevin Seeking To Swing France Behind Policies

British Foreign Secretary In Long Conferences With French Foreign Minister

LONDON, Jan. 13. — (INS) — British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin was reportedly attempting to swing France behind his middle-east policies today in important London talks.

Bevin was closeted with French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman early today in discussions aimed at closely co-ordinating British French foreign policy.

The two diplomatic chiefs lunched together and planned to prolong their talks far into the night. After dinner they will go to Bevin's residence to continue their discussions.

"Clear the Air" Talks

London diplomatic circles stressed the importance of the "clear the air" conversations to peace.

High on the agenda will be the question of the Middle East. While France has not recognized Israel—out of deference to her many Moslem subjects—the French attitude toward the Jewish state has been more conciliatory than that of Bevin.

In addition to the Near East, the ministers will cover every aspect of international relations save economic and financial matters. These will be dealt with later this month when Sir Stafford Cripps, chancellor of the exchequer, visits Paris to meet with the French premier, Henry Queuille.

Declares No Tax Increase Needed

Congressman Taber Charges That President Underestimates Revenue

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—(INS) — The Republican economy chief in congress charged today that President Truman has "underestimated" revenue for the 1950 fiscal year and said no tax increase is necessary.

Rep. Taber (R) N. Y., stated that revenue for the new fiscal year beginning July 1 probably will total "at least" forty-two and a half billion dollars instead of forty-one billions estimated by the president in his budget message.

This is about one and one-half billion dollars inexcess of the president's estimate and Taber termed his own estimate conservative.

Taber stated:

New Taxes Not Needed

"The President has recommended to congress expenditures for the coming year totaling 41 billion 858 million dollars. He says that this

Capt. Bill Odom Seeking Record For Light Plane

Enroute Of Projected Non-Stop Flight Honolulu To Teterboro, N. J.

(BULLETIN)

HONOLULU, Jan. 13.—(INS)— Capt. Bill Odom early today was more than half way across the dangerous trans-ocean section of his attempted non-stop flight from Honolulu to Teterboro, N. J. He is seeking a new sustained distance record for light planes.

Odom, at his present speed of 140 miles per hour, is due to reach the Pacific Coast about noon.

The noted globe-circling pilot flew in the low 100's until he cleared threatening storm clouds. Then he opened up the throttle of his tiny one-engined craft and increased his speed to 140 miles an hour.

The famed flyer, seeking to

Two Killed As Bomb Explodes

'Suitcase Bomb' Explodes In Cairo; Twenty-Two Persons Are Injured

CAIRO, Jan. 13. — (INS) — Two persons were killed and 22 injured today when a "suitcase bomb" exploded in front of the Egyptian Court of Appeals building in Cairo.

Most of those injured were police guards at the building.

Police arrested a man who allegedly attempted to escape from the scene after depositing a suitcase which contained the explosive charge.

The suspect was believed to be a member of the Moslem brotherhood, outlaw fanatic group one of whose members assassinated the late Premier Nokrashy last month.

Truman Makes Flying Trip To Visit Marshall

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—(INS) —President Truman's flying visit to Secretary of State Marshall was interpreted today as emphasizing that United States foreign policy will continue without change.

Mr. Truman made the unheralded trip to the resort village of Pinehurst, N. C., after lunch Wednesday. The president left at 1:13 p. m. EST, arrived at Pinehurst in time to have tea with Secretary and Mrs. Marshall and was back home for dinner.

Dramatic as the journey was, diplomatic quarters feel that the primary purpose was to make clear that no difference in views on America's position in world affairs exist between the two great leaders.

While Washington has accepted the fact that a recent major operation forced Marshall's retirement from the cabinet, some quarters have speculated that a fundamental difference on foreign policy had preceded the retirement.

It was revealed that Mr. Truman's hour-long call on Marshall dealt primarily with foreign affairs. Presumably the chief executive sought the advice of his wartime chief of staff and peacetime secretary of state.

Expects Rent Controls Will Be Extended

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—(INS) —Housing Expediter Tighe Woods expressed confidence today that Congress will extend rent controls beyond March 31.

Woods asserted that he thinks Congress will continue the rent control law 'until housing needs are reasonably met—not for top-income people or low-income groups, but for the man able to pay only $40 to $70 a month for rent."

The rent chief opined that this condition is still more of a myth than a reality and the need for continued rent control is desperate.

Woods' prediction was made in connection with his ruling that a substantial number of rental vacancies do not alone constitute grounds for removing rent controls in an area.

His action overruled recommendations of the Miami, Fla., rent control board that six adjacent communities be decontrolled.

The rent director said:

"I won't deny that there are a couple of thousand rental vacancies in the Miami area. But I maintain that Congress expects rent control to remain in such areas until the housing needs there are reasonably met . . ."

New Record For State Farm Show

Report All-Time High Attendance Record Is Eclipsed On Wednesday

HARRISBURG, Jan. 13.—(INS) —Pennsylvania's 33rd Farm Show today was an assured success as livestock sold at near record prices and crowds grew bigger.

The all-time high attendance record was eclipsed by yesterday's 155,000 spectators. Previous record was 150,000 set a year ago

One farmer who had attended the show almost 10 years called it the "biggest and best" in a decade and labeled the agricultural extravaganza a "howling success."

In the sales ring prize Yorkshire hogs brought an average $145 to compare favorably with 1948 record-smashing prices.

Forty Alabama state officials inspected the 10,000 exhibit farm show again today in preparation to inauguate a similar exhibition in that southern state. Alabama intends to raise a farm show area on a 152 acre tract.

Pennsylvania's 4-H clubs continued in the limelight today as they paraded Lambs, Herefords, Shorthorns and Aberdeen-Angus for the coveted grand champion awards.

A host of annual conventions continued or reconvened including: Pennsylvania Nut Growers Association, Potato Growers, Turkey Growers, Dairymen's Association and Future Homemakers Associations.

Three Arraigned In Guam Court For Woman's Death

GUAM, Jan. 13.—(INS)—Three U. S. Air Force men pleaded innocent today at their arraignment in Guam criminal court on charges of kidnaping, raping and murdering Ruth Farnsworth of San Francisco.

The arraignment was held after the suspects—Pvt. Calvin Dennis, 26, of Frederick, Md., his brother, Pvt. Herman T. Dennis Jr., 20, of Indianapolis and Staff Sgt. Robert W. Burns, 32, of Spokane—were turned over to Guam's civilian authorities for trial.

The U. S. Navy stated earlier that the Dennis brothers had admitted taking part in the rape-slaying of Miss Farnsworth, who was found dying in a jungle patch last Dec. 13, two days after her disappearance.

The savage criminal assault and murder of the beautiful 27-year-old civilian employe of the Navy shocked all of Guam.

Tugboat Operators' Strike Delayed But Still Threatens

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—(INS)— Negotiations between the New York Tugboat Workers Union and representatives of towboat operators were terminated today with no immediate settlement of the threatened strike in sight.

The session ended after 13 hours of conferences.

At the same time, Mayor William O'Dwyer said he hoped to get both union and management representatives together later today.

Joseph E. O'Grady, director of New York's Labor Rejations Service, said the union declined a proposal to extend the strike deadline until Friday midnight.

The strike was originally scheduled for midnight last night, but the union extended the deadline until midnight tonight so that they might continue negotiations.

Two Americans In Peiping Have Narrow Escape

Communist Shell Explodes 200 Feet Away From Their Offices

SHANGHAI, Jan. 13.—(INS)—Two American employes of the United States Information Service in Peiping narrowly escaped death today when a Communist shell exploded only 200 feet away from the service's office.

Shanghai sources identified the men as James Dyke Van Putten of Carlinville, Ill., and Richard McCarthy of Webster City, Iowa.

The office is 200 yards from the British legation.

Chinese censors deleted reference to the shelling in cables out of Peiping.

Plane Fired On

The American pilot of a Lutheran World Mission plane said that his plane was fired on by Communists near Peiping.

The pilot, Captain Springweiler, arrived in Shanghai today with a planeload of faculty members and students from Yenching university in the suburbs of Communist-threatened Peiping.

He reported that Peiping was quiet except for sporadic shelling. Prices were described as sky high."

On the return flight to Shanghai Springweiler sighted large fires from factories a short distance south of Tientsin, but he kept the plane clear to avoid drawing ack-ack fire.

Small Fire In Storage Building

Firemen were called to the rear of 717½ West Washington street at 10:30 o'clock this morning, where sparks set fire to the roof of a storage building, causing damage of around $15, Assistant Chief N. A. McFarland estimated. The blaze was caused by a defective chimney.

There are more than 20,000 bridges on the Pennsylvania Department of Highway System.

crack the light-plane non-stop mark held by two Russian airmen, lifted his tiny, single-engined Beechcraft Bonanza from Honolulu's John Rodgers Airport at 6:32 p. m. (11:32 p.m. EST) last night.

He required less than 3,000 feet of the airport's number 8 runway to take off in his 185-horsepower plane loaded down with 260 gallons of gasoline.

Odom hoped to fly without stopping for more than 5,000 miles over the Great Circle route across the Pacific and the United States. His announced objective was the Teterboro airport in New Jersey. The Navy PBY took off to escort him several hundred miles over the ocean.

Acheson reports that Alger Hiss was "your chief of staff, or your assistant," while Acheson was assistant secretary of state.

Acheson replied:

"It is true that there have been such reports, but it is not true that they are a fact."

Ready To Answer

The lawyer-diplomat went on:

"I have waited for a long time for the opportunity to answer this.

"As a preliminary matter I want to say that my friendship is not easily given nor easily withdrawn.

"Donald Hiss was my assistant. He served with complete fidelity. We became friends. He is my law partner and my friend.

"Alger Hiss was an officer in the state department. During that time we became friends and we remain so."

Acheson told the committee that former Assistant Secretary of State Adolph Berle was "quite wrong" when he identified Alger Hiss as Acheson's one time executive assistant.

After reading a statement made by Berle before the house un-American activities committee in its spy investigation, Acheson said.

"Mr. Berle's memory has gone badly astray. Alger Hiss was not my executive assistant; he was not in my branch. Mr. Berle's memory was quite wrong when he said Alger Hiss became my assistant."

Acheson reminded the committee that Berle told the house group he had checked with Acheson "on the Hiss boys," and then he gave this explanation of his dealings with Berle:

Question Associations

"In February or March of 1941, Mr. Berle said that he understood I had one of the Hiss brothers in my office. I said Donald Hiss was my executive assistant.

"Mr. Berle said he had information that one of the Hiss brothers had associations which would make his presence in my office embarrassing to me and to the state department.

"I said it was important to know which brother he meant. He said he could not tell me. I thought at the time that he did not know, but it may have been that he was not at liberty to tell me.

"I asked the nature of the associations, but Mr. Berle said he could not reveal them for security reasons. I then said that I would question Donald Hiss if he had associations which might prove embarrassing. If he said he did not, I would have complete confidence in his answer.

"I questioned Donald Hiss, and asked him to reflect and let me know his answer. He took time to reflect, and then said he had no association which might prove embarrassing. He offered to resign and go back to other work, but I said no and the matter was closed."

Acheson, under question of Sen. Vandenberg (R) Mich., told the committee he would "of course" continue to search out any subversive influences in the state department.

He said he did not want to comment on the Alger Hiss case because it is in the courts, but declared:

"I agree that security is of the first importance. No step should be left untaken to assure that security."

Acheson also disclosed that it was on his recommendation that John E. Peurifoy, now an assistant secretary of state, was placed in charge of the department's loyalty check-up by Secretary Marshall.

The "actions he took were actions that he and I worked out together."

ported by the government's Central News Service. The agency said a full Communist division opened the fresh attacks on the city's western outskirts at 8 o'clock Tuesday night.

This came apparently at the end of a temporary 24-hour cease-fire period during which four Tientsin city council members tried unsuccessfully to arrange the city's surrender to Communist Gen. Lin Piao. The Red general was believed to have rejected the terms under which the Nationalist garrison offered to capitulate.

PRESIDENT AND AMBASSADOR OF BRITAIN CONFER

views he presented were similar to those he presented to Lovett yesterday. These views were regarded as conciliatory in nature.

The ambassador insisted that he had delivered no formal note to Mr. Truman and that their meeting was devoted entirely to conversation.

It was thought that Franks clarified Great Britain's position and got from the president indications of the American attitude in the hope that the two governments could reach a field of cooperation to end the Jewish-Arab hostilities.

ON THE HOUSE

TULSA, Okla.—The cost of living went down to zero at one local eating place but patrons knew it was only temporary. When Ed G. Thrasher, owner of the Ferndale Buffet, sold his business, he issued cards to his customers saying "You have been our friends as well as customers. Please be our guests today." Everything was on the house.

DECLARES NO TAX INCREASE NEEDED

will result in a deficit of 873 million dollars and has asked for new taxes. No new taxes are necessary.

"The latest figure I have received from the treasury, dated Jan. 7, show that revenue receipts so far this fiscal year are running 200 million dollars above what they ran last year on the same date. This indicates that our receipts at the end of the fiscal year (next June 30) will be somewhere around 42½ billion dollars after tax refunds have been paid."

Taber, who was chairman of the house appropriations committee during the Republican congress, continued:

"I think they'll run above rather than below this figure for the 1950 fiscal year. That would more than meet all the expenditures outlined in Mr. Truman's budget and leave something for reduction of the public debt."

The Republican leader added that he will tell congress how "at least" two billion dollars could be cut from the president's record peacetime budget.

Paroled Convict Held In Slaying

'Perfect Alibi' Fails In Slaying Of Chester Cafe Manager, Police Assert

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 13—(INS) A paroled West Philadelphia convict was turned over to Delaware county authorities today to answer charges in connection with the "perfect alibi" slaying of a Chester cafe manager.

Detectives said Alexander L. Niemi's hopes to commit a perfect crime were foiled because his girl friend became frightened "and talked."

The woman, Mrs. Gretna Jean Shay, 22, of North Philadelphia, was held without bail and turned over to Delaware county on charges of being an accessory after the fact of murder.

At a central police court hearing, detectives said Niemi, accompanied by another gunman—still at large—went to the 520 Club in Chester last Friday where they drank for more than an hour before drawing pistols and holding up manager Jacob J. Davis, 51.

Davis was obeying orders to hand over the money when one of the gunmen fired at him.

Albert Mortimer, a Philadelphia detective, said Niemi had arranged with Mrs. Shay to swear that he spent Friday night at her home, arriving there about 11 p.m.

He added however that through Chester authorities, the police obtained information leading to Mrs. Shay, and that she confessed that Niemi had not arrived at her home until long after midnight.

While Mortimer was testifying, he said there was evidence that Niemi was the triggerman, but the suspect broke in and said:

"That's not true. I didn't shoot that man. I didn't shoot anybody."

Mrs. Shay and Niemi were taken to Media under heavy guard.

Among some Japanese pictures he has, Charles is shown with a half dozen other U. S. soldiers in front of a small portion of the temple almost entirely destroyed at Nagasaki and in another one, he is shown in front of a large signboard near where the atom bomb burst.

The Germans always have been a nation of joiners. They always have had clubs and organizations in wholesale lots from song-fests to duelling societies and the national temperament was never better displayed than in the days before Hitler "unity" when there were 32 different political parties in the Reichstag.

The inevitable post-war economic condition of Germany, despite the airlift, is conducive to political aggression by opportunists.

An empty stomach responds quickly to a call when a free meal might result from attendance at a meeting. An intellectual vacuum characteristic of any defeated country also provides a fertile field for the injection of political dynamism.

Gen. Clay simply has warned that just as Hitler came from nowhere, the nucleus of a new dictatorship could be created in the wreckage of Berlin.

This may be unfair competition or such competition may be justified within the framework of the American competitive system. A thorough Congressional investigation into the airline industry, with a safety a major consideration—unbiased by the special prejudices of friendly senators, if that is conceivable—should point the way to reforms.

Disturbing Rumors

There have been disturbing rumors lately of a major contribution last fall to the Truman campaign that was made through carefully concealed channels by a major airline. This is linked by rumor with the drive to eliminate the competition of the unscheduled lines.

More investigations and more reports are not the answer to disaster. They are part of the process by which tragedy is conveniently filed and forgotten until the next time the headlines spell out a new accident.

WORLD DEMAND ON U. S. AID

A new year has begun. What it holds forth for the United States as a nation is of course a matter of speculation. Most economists seem particularly optimistic and permeated with the belief that we will continue prosperous in a business way. Let us hope that they are not mistaken.

One thing now certain is that the entire civilized world—and we use the term "civilized" in contradistinction to Communist—is now depending on the United States for survival. Europe is counting on us to block Russia at the Rhine and to keep the Communist tide from surging any further to the west. We were told a year ago that if we contributed the materials to restore economically the countries of Western Europe, then they would be successful in escaping the Communist danger. We are furnishing the materials, and things seem to be looking up—everywhere except in Berlin. But now we are being advised that in addition to furnishing credit and materials for rebuilding western European industry we will have to ship military supplies, that these Western Europeans must have trained armies, and well equipped ones, to check the Russians. Some people are now wondering whether even this will be enough or whether, in the final analysis, American soldiers will be called for, not this time to stop Hitler but to check Stalin. We now have some troops in Western Europe, but they would be unable to hold for any length of time even with any allied European help which might be available.

So at the beginning of the year 1949 we see how much the world outside of Russia depends on Uncle Sam. In addition to the aid we are sending Europe we are hearing cries from China where the Reds, under the direction of Moscow, seem about to take over and become a deadly menace to the future of the United States.

On the world-wide scene all nations who hope to escape the blight of Communist occupation are depending on Uncle Sam. He is expected to maintain modern civilization abroad as well as to produce what his own people need at home. All of us hope he will be able to do so, but at best it is a tremendous task. While we are making this effort let us not forget that it cannot go on forever and that we must even now be looking to a future when things may be even more difficult. But at any rate, let us hope the year 1949 will be a prosperous and successful one for Uncle Sam at home.

TWO BUDGETS

There are so many intangibles in federal financing that few citizens can make anything out of the budget which the President submits annually to Congress. If everybody understood the facts and figures thus presented, a public argument might begin which would keep Congress considering the matter all year.

With respect to Mr. Truman's budget, only a few things are certain. First there is the distinct probability that the United States, in the coming fiscal year, will spend more money than ever before in a peacetime period. And there is the likelihood of a deficit—provided taxes are not boosted still higher and the President has done his mathematical task correctly.

Income grows, but not as fast as outgo. Obviously the national defense cannot be neglected. But why must the President, under such conditions, look around for new ways to spend money? With the country running into the red and the government spending more than $40,000,000,000 annually, this is not a time for expensive innovations.

Until 1921 the government of the United States got along without a budget. Now it has two. One is the President's budget, and the other is the legislative budget. The legislative budget is a comparative newcomer. It was provided for in the Congressional Reorganization Act of 1946.

The President's budget is now so firmly fixed in the government that it is taken for granted. It is hard to imagine what a session of Congress would be like if there were no budget. Yet it managed, somehow, for 150 years without the help of a set of estimates on revenues and expenditures for the coming fiscal year.

Before 1921, Congress just went ahead and legislated. A number of committees prepared appropriation bills and these bills did the necessary job in piecemeal fashion. Now all appropriations go through a single committee in each branch of Congress.

The President's budget does not limit Congress in any way. It is merely a guide. The legislative branch makes the decisions. It is not certain that the legislative budget will be permanent. When Congress received figures from the Joint Committee on the Legislative Budget in 1946, Senate and House split and never agreed on a spending limit. Last year they agreed but ignored the figure.

If results are no better this year, the scheme may be abandoned. If it does work as designed this time, the precedent will be a fine thing for the country.

A young German who ran barefooted down the streets of Frankfurt shouting "The Russians are coming!" was arrested and adjudged insane. Maybe he wasn't so crazy at that.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. OESTREICHER, INS Foreign Director

A pointed warning by Gen. Lucius D. Clay that extreme nationalist groups again are beginning to make their presence felt in postwar Germany brought into focus today one of the major problems of the allied occupational forces.

On several occasions in the past the U. S. military governor had called attention to the difficulties of eradicating nazism entirely.

He asked for a general understanding of the problem.

Clay has the task of preserving and rebuilding a relatively strong Germany within the limitations imposed by Soviet impoverishment in the east and French fears in the west.

At the same time he is required under the denazification laws adopted by the four powers to strip authority and even imprison men or women who contributed in the slightest to the rise of Adolf Hitler and his rule of force throughout Europe.

On The Spot

He is therefore, as on so many previous occasions, on the spot. In reporting on the present resurgence of Otto Strasser's "Black Front" and other nationalist organizations, he emphasized that up to 1929, Hitler's own Nazi party was an infinitesimal and negligible factor.

Obviously, any remnants or offshoots or ideological relatives of Hitler's, once-powerful movement comprise valuable factors in combatting communism.

But they also are dangerous potentials in themselves and Gen. Clay thinks the world should know of their revival.

Some of the most idealistic and gifted minds in Germany today are firmly convinced that never again in the foreseeable future will the rank and file of the population follow the leadership of a single man.

They were disillutioned in casting their fate with the overweening ambitions of Kaiser Wilhelm II; they were crushed by fate and the allies when they heeded Hitler's call.

As a result, according to these intellectuals, the Germans now will give obedience and allegiance to a true democracy fashioned in accordance with their own traditions and spiritual and material needs.

Can Be Moulded

This eliminates to some extent the unmilitaristic democracy of the United States, although they believe that with proper guidance, the American form can be moulded to that of the German temperament. This school of thought believes that no attempt should be made to "re-educate" an already highly educated people but merely to channel their thinking into proper lines.

It is the re-emergence of rabble-rousers and clandestine political gatherings that is feared the most.

While it is perfectly true that Germans who survived active par-

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

GRANDPARENTS CAN PROVIDE GOOD GUIDANCE

A fine lad about thirteen, who lives near where I do, whom I greatly admire, told me the other evening he was going to try to make good at school as his grandmother has told him she will send him to college.

There are many grandmothers and grandfathers putting grandchildren through college or giving them other opportunities. And when these children prove worthy the grandparents gain great satisfaction from the aid they render. Of course, the grandparents contribute most to the grandchild when, as so many do, they inspire him to want to strive upwards.

Pampered Grandchild

It must worry those grandparents who long have had dreams of seeing a grandson or granddaughter develop good qualities of character and citizenship, to have these dreams shattered. Sometimes, of course, the very same grandparents have been the biggest force in shattering their own dreams, having pampered the grandchild when he was younger, given him too much of material goods or even interfered with the parents in their efforts to bring this child up wisely.

All too well it is known that a few grandparents are millstones around the necks of the grandchildren and their parents. For those grandparents who really wish not to be a hindrance but a help toward the best upbringing of the grandchildren and to the happiness of the younger family, I have prepared a special bulletin, "Some Suggestions to Grandparents," to be had in a stamped envelope, by writing me at 235 East 45th Street, New York, N. Y.

Enjoyed The Children

Mrs. Myers and I have ten grandchildren, the nearest group being five hundred miles away. She and I are very proud of them and have greatly enjoyed them when they have spent short or longer periods with us and when we, occasionally, have visited them. To be sure, we don't pamper them. And as some tiny infants have been among us for several years I have kept up a bit on early child development.

Though a bit biased, perhaps, I am inclined to believe that most of what has been written about grandparents has given an exceedingly unbalanced picture of them in general, portraying practically all of them as almost worthy of annihilation. I'me sure that most grandparents you read about represent only a small proportion of all grandparents and that the number of grandparents who contribute to the best in their grandchildren must be many times greater than the number who hamper these youngsters' best development. All too many grandparents are, alas, slaves to their children and grandchildren.

Out of about twenty thousand letters I receive in the course of a year from my readers throughout the United States and Canada, an amazing large number are from grandmothers, seeking ways of understanding better and guiding better the child left to them by a dead or divorced mother. Often, too, the grandmother writes to deplore the child's insecurity or lack of discipline (or both) in the unbroken home. Rarely does she complain that her grandchildren are disciplined too strictly, if the discipline is consistent. Often she grieves that the parents are not training the grandchildren in respect for the rights of others and in due regard for constituted authority. As a rule, grandparents are not as blind followers of the b[illegible] of excessive self-expression as the young parents are.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

"The night is young
And you're so beautiful . . ."

A plaintive crooner is singing this on Arthur Godfrey's cigarette show while I am writing my column . . .

(. . . excuse me, I have to stop a minute for a glass of water. I was getting a little nauseated just as the fellow ended with ". . .what shall I do?")

I could have told him what he could do so far as I am concerned, and I could now write a lot of sarcastic things about crooners and the like who, to me, have always been about the silliest and most infantile breed of "artists" in existence.

But I will not do it.

Because I am the one who is wrong, and not the hundred or more people who sat in Godfrey's studio just now, clapping, yelling, cheering at this crooner-boy.

I am the one who is wrong, and not the millions who went crazy over Frank Sinatra, and who are still going crazy over Perry Como and all the others who make it possible for those millions to shut their eyes and imagine that they, too, are beautiful and glamorous.

The fellow who runs our lending library tells me of a chap who has been a clerk all his life.

That clerk never had any real adventure. A couple of times he went on a fishing trip, and once he caught a smelt or something like that.

But all day long he sits at a desk adding up figures or whatever clerks do. In the evening he goes home to his family and has his dinner.

But after dinner that little clerk becomes an adventurer.

One night he is a sheriff at the head of his posse, going after and catching the train robbers who have hidden away in Dead Man's Gulch.

The next night he rescues the fair maiden who has been given to the villain as security for the money which he lent her father to pay off the mortgage which is due tomorrow—or else.

The night after that our little clerk flies over a Japanese outpost, drops a bomb, and thus saves a whole regiment of American soldiers who, without him, would surely have been killed by the enemy.

And how does he do it?

By renting from a lending library every adventure story he can get. By reading every line of glamorous exploits, and by imagining that he is the hero of every one.

The night is young and you're so beautiful . . ."

What matters it that the dishes have to be washed and the kids' clothes have to be ironed.

What matters is that next month may be the fortieth birthday and that each month there are a few more wrinkles.

"The moon is high, and you're so glamorous . . ."

I hate crooners. God bless 'em.

When it rains in Californy,
It makes the Tourist mad,
But folks that's got the crops to raise

Wet, as a drown-ded rat,
And watch the grain a-growin'
And the cattle gittin' fat.

Sorry for them Easterners,
Kickin' like Sam Hill,
But the sun-kissed land is thirsty
And wants to drink its fill.
Oh! Hear the poppies laughin'

When it rains in Californy,—

All years is good years,—
There's never need to whine,
But, some of them is better,
And THIS one's EXTRA FINE.
Rains come when they orter,—
Early ones and late,—
And things is lookin' bully,
All down the Golden State.

Washington Calling

(By Marquis Childs)

Need Aviation Safety Probe

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—The way in which the continuing waves of the news close over even a major disaster is well illustrated by the disappearance from the pages of the newspapers of the disaster in Seattle, Wash., that cost 16 lives, 13 of them students from Yale returning to college.

This is, of course, very convenient for the bureaucrats who are supposed to have regulatory responsibility over the airlines. They are grateful for the shortness of public memory which obscures each succeeding tragedy.

Still Gathering Data

The Civil Aeronautics Board is still gathering data preparatory to a hearing in Seattle that opens next Tuesday. In time the board will write a long report phrased in government gobbledygook with blame duly parceled out, including a share for the Civil Aeronautics Administration which set up regulations.

But here, as anyone knows who read the accounts of the disaster, is a case where regulations were plainly inadequate. The pilot of the plane was cleared for a takeoff by the control tower even though weather conditions were below the safe minimums. It was apparently "legal" to send 16 young men to their deaths.

This is no regulatory system and an overhaul is long overdue. Nor have recent appointments to air regulatory bodies been such as to inspire confidence.

If they follow present intentions, the Hoover commission to reorganize the government will recommend establishment of a department of transportation. Into that department under a cabinet officer would go all government agencies covering every form of transportation.

This recommendation represents a compromise among various factions urging specific action on air regulation. But for several reasons there is little likelihood that either the administration or the Congress will get behind such a sweeping proposal.

President Truman has already recommended a department of social welfare and that probably will receive Congressional approval. It is very doubtful if Congress would add a second cabinet post at the same time.

Would Be Opposed

Such a move would be opposed by most of the transportation interests involved. Both railroads and airlines would feel that their claims would be submerged in a common agency. It appears, therefore, that no change is in prospect.

The answer of the Civil Aeronautics Board is a new regulation that would have the effect of eliminating irregular or non-scheduled airlines. The plane that crashed at Seattle was on charter from a company operating non-scheduled flights.

This, it seems to me, is not enough. Perhaps stricter regulation of non-scheduled flights is essential. Certainly, it would please the airlines. Sen. Owen Brewster, who has been such a kind friend of Pan American Airways, has long planned a move that would practically eliminate non-scheduled competition.

Need To Tighten Regulation

The safety regulations need to be tightened for all lines. Fortunately, there has been no major disaster on scheduled lines in recent months. But it was in June of last year that the crash of a DC-6 in Pennsylvania killed 43 persons.

The competition offered by non-scheduled lines is quite another matter. Operating without the large overhead spent for publicity lines incur, the little companies, many of them run by veterans, and lobbying that the scheduled seem to make a go of it by charg-

It may only be coincidence that the day after the California snow three men were arrested trying to smuggle refugees into Florida . . . . they are now being tested for their citrus content.

Weather experts are unable to explain violets growing in Connecticut while California shivers . . . some suspect disgruntled Republicans of messing with the seasons.

Incidentally Govs. Thurmond and Dewey definitely will attend the inauguration . . . it appears that each planned as far back as July to be in Washington on Inauguration day.

The makeup of the inauguration parade is not complete but I hear eight strong Democrats will carry the budget.

In book form this year's budget runs six pages under "Gone With the Wind" . . . the title of last year's budget.

As you know Mr. Truman has called for 6 billion in new taxes and is now waiting for us to return his call.

THOUGHTS ON SUCCESS

'Tis not as if the Lord had said:
"Be rich before you join the dead.
Be cleverest of all the throng,
And be the strongest of the strong,"
For had that been the Lord's command,
This life on earth but few could stand.

'Tis well that there are victories
For all to win, excelling these;
Some lasting joys for man to claim
That may not come with wealth and fame.
The generous heart, the gracious mind
Leave lasting memories behind.

The home serene will compensate
For lack of talents to be great.
Honor and love and friends and pride
May be to champions denied,
But he whose life such triumphs shows
Has more than gold alone bestows.

Income Tax Law Baffles

By PAUL GALLICO

Studying the recent rulings of the Income Tax boys, one cannot help wondering whether there is an Income Tax Law which states plainly what a guy can or cannot do. And if not, why not. Also, whether there is nothing really very definite about this Capital Gains business and the whole thing is a blow hot-blow cold affair with interpretations rendered from tea leaves, or how does it look on Thursday compared with the state of health of the interpreter on Friday.

As a layman who is fairly easily befuddled by this tax business and also a fellow who is in the author business, there are some things about the tax set-up which are as plain as the nose on J. Durante's face and others which leave a sense of complete bewilderment.

Could Have Told Benny

For instance, I feel that I could have told Brother Benny that he would never get away with his deal as a Capital Gains gadget, simply because he never had a created property, where as the Messrs. Gosden and Correll—Amos and Andy to you—did.

To point up the distinction with another pair, Edgar Bergen has a definite created property in Charley McCarthy and Mortimer Snerd. Phil Harris has not in the Phil Harris show. Benny and Harris are living persons; Amos and Andy, Charley and Mortimer are fictitious creations.

When Gosden and Correll sold all rights in perpetuity to Amos and Andy, they sold a tangible property which they brought into existence out of their minds and by their labors and further broadened and enhanced by their performance as the chief characters.

Could Hire New Actors

So tangible is this property that the purchaser could dismiss Gosden and Correll as performers, hire new actors, engage other writers to make up the stories and send Amos and Andy off on any tack they pleased.

Benny, however, has nothing to sell but his services and his company. Mary Livingston, Dennis Day, Rochester, etc., all of them living persons. What rights had he to sell? The right to permit CBS to fire him and his whole cast and get others to impersonate them? True, certain fictional characteristics have been built up around all of these persons. None of them in real life is as depicted in the broadcast shows. But nobody in the Tax Department is going to get that subtle.

And so I gather that quite rightly, the Amos and Andy deal is legitimate under Capital Gains and the Benny show isn't.

Now Gets Complicated

But now it begins to get complicated. I am given to understand that the interpreters of the tax law hold that the author who creates a fictional character which is published in a book, or serialized in a magazine, is at no time entitled to sell that character as a Capital Gain. Why not? What's the difference? I wish one of the expert lads in the Tax Department would take the trouble to write to me and explain why. I'd publish it too.

If Conan Doyle were alive today and an American citizen and was offered a deal to sell ALL rights to Sherlock Holmes to some company, and by all rights, meaning he could never again write a Sherlock Holmes story unless specifically commissioned to do so by the new owners of the character, the Tax Department would deny him the Capital Gains.

What's Difference?

What is the specific subtlety that makes authorship for radio production different from authorship for magazine publication? What is the difference between Author Doyle and Authors Gosden and Correll? Each created a character. Each wrote it down on a piece of paper before presenting it to the public. Each kept the character going over a long span of years. But my understanding is that the Tax chappies say no to one and yes to the other. Or am I wrong?

On what basis is an author who wrote a novel in 1939 which was all but forgotten and then by a stroke of fortune sells it to the movies in 1949, denied Capital Gains on the deal? That old novel is as much a piece of real property as a carload of bolts standing on a siding for two years awaiting a purchaser. Help, boys! Unconfuse me.

OBS UPON A TIME

PRETTY and ambitious Helen Walker nearly starved in her first season on Broadway, so she swallowed her pride and took a job at pasting clippings. Helen saved her money and tried again and this time she was given the job of understudy to Dorothy McGuire in "Claudia". She didn't get on the stage, but George Abbott, playwright and producer, noticed her and gave her the lead in "Jason". Before that show closed Helen was on her way to Hollywood, where she has been ever since.

BUTCH HAS EARS

Butch has good sharp ears but he does not like to have them washed. He makes a poor job of it himself and he does not enjoy it much when Mom washes them.

He is not too enthusiastic about washing his hands either.

About the time Butch falls in love he will take more interest in fixing himself up. He will wash his hands often.

Health workers say that the hands are to blame for the spread of many diseases.

Germs may be passed along by the hands. Worms and other pests are sometimes carried on the hands, too.

The eggs are too small to be seen.

Frequent washing with plenty of soap is a good way to keep the hands clean.

The World and the Mud Puddles

OBSERVE THE PARENTS.

One of the sharpest commentaries on modern life in the United States of America is offered in a brief paragraph from the Hancock, Illinois, Journal:

"The hardest thing a youngster faces nowadays is learning good manners without seeing them."

This is an epigram worthy of a George Ade or Finley Peter Dunne, prize satirists of a recent generation. It is not only a sound critique on the etiquette of our present day adolescents, but carries with a pertinent slant on what we have come to term the problem of "juvenile delinquency."

Sound Morality

Too many modern youngsters not only fail to see good manners in the home, but good morals also. The home used to be the foundation of sound moralty. What is it now? Answer the question for yourself by considering the number of fathers and mothers whose primary interest in life is bridge competitions, all-night dancing or cocktail bars.

Good manners may be secondary, important though they are. But good morals are vital, not only to the invidual but to society. Good morals, like good manners, get their start in the home. Children are not likely to acquire good morals without seeing them.

Maybe, after all, juvenile delinquency is at bottom a problem of adult delinquency.

Leave Slick Chick Dresses At Home Girls Are Told

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., Jan. 13.—(INS)—Girls—leave your slick chick dress at home and report for work in simple attire if you want to be a success in the business world."

That's straight from Carroll B. Larrabee, of old Greenwich, Conn., president of Printers Ink.

"As soon as you make one step to use sex unfairly as a business weapon you are tacitly admitting that you did not consider yoursef in a competition where brains are equal," he told girls attending Wilson College.

A CHANGE OF WEDDING PLANS

"During the early months of my engagement, I had planned a small informal wedding at home. Now I have changed my mind completely in favor of a church wedding. If I wear a formal wedding dress and veil, is it absolutely essential for the groom, best man, ushers and my father to wear tails, top hat, etc. Isn't there a certain time of day when a business suit or tuxedo is correct? Please suggest what kind of dress I may wear in order that the men of the wedding party may wear business suits, tuxedos or formal attire?"

Answer: For a formal daytime wedding (one taking place before 6 p. m.) the men of the wedding party, including the bride's father, should, to be technically correct, wear formal day clothes—cutaway coat, striped trousers.

For a formal evening wedding (one taking place after 6 p. m.), they should wear fromal evening dress—swallow tail coat, high silk hat and all of the accoutrements to go with them.

When the bride wears a dinner dress (without a veil of course) the men of the wedding party may wear dinner jackets (tuxedos) provided the wedding takes place after 6 p. m. When she wears iniormal day clothes (either before or after 6 p. m.) they may wear dark business suits.

With either of these last-mentioned wedding, there must not be any attendants other than a maid of honor and a best man.

Bear in mind that the bride and her attendants must not be more elaborately dressed than the men of the wedding party. If you have a church wedding with bridesmaids and ushers and you dress as a bride, the men must be dressed accordingly—if you would be correct.

'Rags To Riches' Tradition Sticks

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—(INS)—The Children's Aid society—where Horatio Alger lived as a newsboy and gathered material for his famed international novels—said today the nation's youth still clings to the "rags to riches" tradition.

The society declared that although the celebrated author of juvenile fiction is unknown and unread by American boys, the "Alger tradition" still lives on as strong as ever among the new generations.

It said a cross-section poll of the 10,000 members of its seven children's centers disclosed that only nine per cent of those questioned ever heard of the dime novelist, who died in 1899.

Most of the 10 to 15 year olds, however, expressed strong opinions that a youth still can become a success by starting at the bottom of the ladder, as an office boy or a messenger.

Forsee Huge Pig Market In 1949

HARRISBURG, Jan. 13.—(INS)—Early marketing of pigs next fall will reap high returns, swine breeders were told Wednesday at the Pennsylvania Farm show.

Addressing the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Swine Breeders' association, Kenneth Hood, Pennsylvania State College Agricultural economist, said pork supplies will reach a high point next fall.

"There will be money in hogs in 1949 for producers who have hogs of good breeding, who practice good feeding and management, and who finish their spring pigs in time to beat the heavy fall run from the corn belt," he explained.

He pointed out that feed supplies are plentiful for profitable feeding and consumer demands for meat will remain strong.

Storage stocks of meat are low and prospective supplies of other meats are not excessive, he added.

Slippery roads are more of an impediment to traffic than actual snow, the State Highway Department reports, and during the winter 600,000 tons of cinders are used to attain highest possible safety conditions.

Major Parties Spend Over Six Million

Post-Election Contributions Save Threatened Deficit Of Democratic Party

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—(INS)—More than six million dollars was spent by the four major parties in the presidential campaign with a flood of post-election contribution wiping out a threatened Democratic deficit.

Four cabinet officials and numerous other government heads, as well as judges and financiers, were among those who contributed to the Democratic campaign coffers after President Truman's surprise victory.

They included Secretary of Defense Forrestal, Secretary of Commerce Sawyer, Postmaster General Donaldson, Secretary of Agriculture Brannan, White House Military Aide Harry H. Vaughan, Bernard Baruch, Mayor James M. Curley of Boston and numerous others.

Brannan and Donaldson were among the administration officials who campaigned actively for President Truman.

Campaign reports filed with congress under the federal corrupt practices act listed the names of all contributors and the funds received and spent during the 1948 presidential campaign.

They revealed that the national committee of the Republican, Democratic, Progressive and States' Rights parties spent $6,391,864 in the campaign, with all of them ending the year in the black.

The Republicans spent $2,736,334, the top amount, in their unsuccessful campaign to elect Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York. Next came the Democrats with $2,127,296, the Progressive party of Henry A. Wallace, $1,366,153, and the Thurmond-Wright States' Rights party, $162,081.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

Are Your Children Your Friends?

That's a rather startling question when you stop to think about it. Probably not many of us parents ever have considered such a thing. And yet, isn't it important?

Too often we are so busy being parents that we haven't time to be friends. We feel the responsibility of seeing that children walk in the paths that they should go to the extent that the fun of companionship is lost by the wayside.

Children crave friendship with their parents. You may remember the times when, as a child, you went on walks with one or both of your parents or did other things with them in which you could be relaxed and comfortable. It may have been the bedtime conversation in which Dad talked man-to-man or Mother chatted woman-to-woman. If you can't remember such experiences it's a good idea to see to it that your children will be able to do so.

As children begin to grow up, friendships within the family can become more and more meaningful for much of the discipline that parents have to use with younger children is no longer necessary. The goal of all of us as parents should be that of seeing to it that our children are our friends from childhood through adult life.

Optimist Club Makes Plans For Ice Carnival

New Castle Optimist club has announced plans to sponsor an ice carnival on January 20, at 2:30 p.m. at the city recreation pond on Mahoning avenue.

In the event there is no ice on the designated date, the carnival will be held the following Sunday.

Carl Anderson has been named chairman of the event and promises the public a gala program and fine exhibitions of skating. The program will include races, specialty acts, figure skating and couple skating.

With the cooperation of the fine local talent, the Optimist club hopes to add the ice carnival to their impressive list of annual events.

Plan To Enlarge Two Institutions

Building Program To Be Launched At Two State Penal Institutions

HARRISBURG, Jan. 13.—(INS)—The Prison Industries division of the State Welfare department today is ready to launch a $1,025,000 building program at two state penal institutions with earned funds.

Gov. James H. Duff approved allocations for construction of industrial buildings at Eastern State Penitentiary at Graterford, and the State Industrial Home for Women at Muncy. He earmarked $750,000 for Graterford and $275,000 for Muncy.

The allocated funds will be derived from savings accumulated over a five year period by the prison industries.

Speed Up Rehabilitation

"These two buildings will improve and speed up our rehabilitation program at these institutions by placing special emphasis on industrial trade training," the governor said.

F. Herbert Cooper, prison industries superintendent, reported that plans for both projects already are underway. Once started, both buildingsg will be ready for operations within two years, he said.

Funds for the buildings have been saved from sales of goods produced by inmates in 20 prison industries ranging from production of automobile license plates to dog tags, Cooper explained. Sales of such goods amounted to more than $2,000,000 in 1948, the highest on record.

Construction of the two buildings will have a double effect, according to Cooper. He pointed out that the projects will result in lowered costs to taxpayers through production of goods for prison use and will give inmates a trade to go to when released.

Argentina To Clamp Down On Foreigners

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 13.—(INS)—President Juan D. Peron's draft constitution was disclosed Wednesday to include a provision requiring all foreigners to become Argentine citizens after two years or leave the country.

Copies of the proposed statute were distributed to pro-Peron delegates to the national constitutional convention which opens in Buenos Aires Monday.

The draft constitution also provides for Peron to succeed himself in office, fixes the value of foreign currencies, declare a state of alarm, anywhere in the nation, and coordinate public utilities.

The provision concerning foreign residents attracted considerable attention in Buenos Aires foreign colony. U. S. circles said the ruling would affect between 3,000 and 4,000 Americans now living in Argentina.

The State Highway System of Pennsylvania is valued at more than one billion dollars.

Potato Yield Great In 1948 Reported

HARRISBURG, Jan. 13.—(INS)—Pennsylvania potato growers were urged Wednesday to give close study to factors which resulted in record yields in 1948 with a view to applying them during 1949.

A. L. Hacker, of Allentown, Lehigh County Agricultural agent, told the 33rd annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Co-operative Potato Growers association that spud producers achieved a "brilliant record of performance" during the past year.

More than 40 growers in 20 counties reported yields in excess of 400 bushels per acre, he said.

Joint efforts by farmers and the Pennsylvania State College Extension service have been largely responsible for increased yields and offer the best solution to the challenge for continued high yields and profitable production, he said.

Crippling Truck Strike Averted

CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—(INS)—Union and trucking association negotiators averted a crippling truck strike today by agreeing on a 25-cent an hour across-the-board wage boost for Chicago area drivers and helpers.

Announcement of the settlement came from Federal Mediator Howard Plank and the negotiators after a 17-hour session of almost continuous bargaining.

Final agreement was reached only 3½ hours before some 14,500 men were scheduled to walk out in a work stoppage which was expected to bring embargo on rail shipments into Chicago.

Radio telephones are utilized by the State Highway Department to direct snow removal equipment to critical areas as required by changing weather conditions.

True! NO TRICK-PACKAGE COST TACKED ONTO NUCOA . . . YOU PAY ONLY FOR QUALITY . . .

(And you can "bowl-mix" two pounds together as quickly as one!)

Experienced housewives from Maine to California tell us:

The real way to save money and time is to let one trip to the store, one quick "bowl-mix," give you two pounds of delicious Nucoa ready to serve. This way you do the coloring job half as often, and it's twice as quick as "squeeze mixing" one at a time!

Of course, what you—and we—hope, is that SOON you won't have to color margarine at all. Until then, we promise that not one penny of trick-package cost will be added to Nucoa. Your grocer will continue to have this top-quality margarine at modest price, ready for you to "bowl-mix" the shade of yellow you like and mold as you please for attractive servings.

2500 Goal For PNG Enlistment Drive In January

Increased Enlistments Will Bring National Guard Total To Almost 20,000 Men

HARRISBURG. — A concerted campaign to accelerate enlistments among all the 235 federally-recognized units of the Pennsylvania National Guard was announced today by Brig. Gen. Frank A. Weber, State Adjutant General.

Following a conference with Maj. Gen. Daniel B. Strickler, commander of the 28th Infantry Division, and Maj. Gen. Charles C. Curtis, commander of the 51st AAA Brigade and non-divisional troops, General Weber fixed sights on a state-wide increase of 2500 more officers and men by the end of January in a letter to all units commanders. Allowing for the normal rate of resignations and discharges, this increase would bring the PNG to well over 18,000 in Army units and 1100 in the Air.

Net enlistments for December, after deducting the month's normal attrition, totaled 926 men and 52 officers. The statewide strength, as of the end of last month, was up to 17,352, representing 16,080 enlisted men and 1,272 officers.

FEEL EFFECT OF SNOW AND COLD IN WEST AREAS

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 13.—(INS)—The snow and cold in California today had its effect on western Pennsylvania.

Prices on oranges, celery, tomatoes and other Southern California produce were scheduled to zoom.

Estimates are that California may lose from 15 per cent to one third of its orange crop due to the cold spell that was described as "the worst in years."

Mrs. M. E. Battley served as leader of the worship period. Following the singing of a series of hymns, Miss Margaret Lowery discussed the national topic, "What Students Are Doing and Thinking". Mrs. Clayton Hofmeister's theme was the foreign topic, "The Aftermath of the War".

Mrs. Clifford Propst gave a brief report of the meeting of the Shenango Presbyterial executive committee.

Lunch was served in the dining room at a tastefully appointed table, centered with a low bowl of pine cones and green vines, flanked by yellow and green tapers. Mrs. Hofmeister, Mrs. Roland Peden, Mrs. A. T. Sadler and Miss Maude Mitchell, officers for the new year, were hostesses.

A chili dinner will be a feature of the next assembly in the church dining room Tuesday evening, February 8, when Mrs. Emerson McGuire, Mrs. John F. Walters and Mrs. Walter Shaw will be responsible for arrangements. A valentine gift exchange will also take place.

When Highland LTL met at Highland church Monday afternoon at four o'clock, the V. P. president Sandra Fowler's call to order was folled by the flag salute, led by Peggy Marburger.

Prayers for the new year were uttered by Caroline Hurst, Cyndia Lou Zeigler and several others. Mary Morrow voiced the temperance pledge. With Miss Gail Brown at the piano, Caroline Hurst directed group singing of temperance songs and jingles.

Holding "Humpty", the LTL's two humped camel mascot during the reading of "Humpty's" message was the secretary, Katherine Seegar. This message suggested the project for February, that of contributing to the purshase of goats to be sent abroad to supply milk for boys and girls of war-devastated countries. Two committees for this "We Share Project" were appointed to submit names for the goats. Final voting on the name will take place at the February meeting.

A short story "Long Sleeves" by Lucile Crites Sligh, and a chalk talk "The Question Marks" provided the temperance lessons. Closing the hour with a social period, the children formed a circle for playing the game Hi Ho He, and receiving a treat.

President Prepares Inaugural Speech

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—(INS)—The White House said Wednesday that President Truman's inaugural speech will contain matters of "major" importance.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross was asked this morning whether the chief executive's message "will be a major pronouncement of policy".

Ross said that any inaugural speech "would necessarily be a major pronouncement", but avoided the use of the word "policy".

Ross declined to discuss the nature of the contents of the message. He said it will take about 20 minutes to deliver and that the President is now working on the message.

What We Know of Jesus' Childhood

LITTLE IS TOLD US—BUT IT IS ALL GOOD

Scripture—Matthew 2:13-15, 19:23; Mark 6:3; Luke 2:30-52.

Flight into Egypt.

"The child grew, and waxed strong, filled with wisdom; and the grace of God was upon Him."—Luke 2:40

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

Biographies of people usually start with their birth, then follow with descriptions of their parents, homes, home conditions, schooling and on into their adult life.

With the biography of Jesus of Nazareth we are told at length of His wonderful birth, very little of His childhood, nothing about His education. We presume that He learned the carpenter's trade from Joseph, for Hebrew boys of good homes were required to learn a trade. He must have learned to read, because He was very familiar with the Scriptures, and He undoubtedly was brought up in a deeply religious atmosphere.

Immediately after the Magi or wise men had left Bethlehem and gone home by a route that did not take them through Jerusalem, Joseph had a vision in a dream. An angel of the Lord appeared and instructed him to take the young child and His mother and flee into Egypt, or Herod would surely kill Him.

No one knows just where in Egypt Joseph took his wife and the Holy Child. We read in our commentary that "the traditional place of their sojourn in Egypt is the village of Metariyeh, not far from the city of Heliopolis on the way to Cairo. An old sycamore is still shown as that under which they rested in their journey (which is thought to have taken about two weeks), or, according to present Coptic tradition, the successor of that, and nearby is a fountain in which the Child was bathed." There were many Jews in Egypt at that time.

The Holy Family is thought to have lived in Egypt until the next summer, when the angel again appeared to Joseph in a dream and told him to return to Palestine, as Herod was dead and the danger passed.

Joseph took Mary and the Infant Jesus back to Israel, but when he heard that Archelaus was reigning over Judaea in his father's place, Joseph was afraid to go on, and, "being warned by God in a dream", he "withdrew into the parts of Galilee and came and dwelt in a city called Nazareth."

All we know of Jesus from then until He was 12 years old is the words of Luke: "And the child grew, and waxed strong, filled with wisdom: and the grace of God was upon Him."

When Jesus was 12 years old, His father and mother, relatives and neighbors, probably, formed a caravan and journeyed to Jerusalem for the feast of the Passover, taking Him with them. Nothing is told us of their activities while they were in Jesusalem, but after the Passover was kept, Jesus' father and mother started homeward. After traveling a day's journey from the city, they began to inquire about their son, whom they supposed to be with some of the company—relatives or friends. Not finding Him, they returned anxiously to the city, and made inquiries.

Three days they searched for the Lad, and finally, coming to the temple, they found Him therein talking, asking questions and answering others with the teachers. These learned men evidently found the young lad a bright and interesting companion—versed in the scriptures and exceedingly intelligent.

Jesus' mother said, "Son, why hast thou dealt thus with us? Thy father and I sought Thee sorrowing." Jesus evidently had no thought of wrong-doing in staying behind, but appears to have been slightly mystified about His parents' anxiety for Him, answering simply: "How is it that ye sought Me? Know ye not that I must be in My Father's house?"

After this brief glimpse into the nature of the Child Christ, we only know that He continued to grow in grace, and "the grace of God was upon Him."

Now a brief passage from Jesus' life history, after He had grown to manhood, been baptized, and was teaching. Once more the scene is Nazareth, home of His childhood. But Jesus, on the Sabbath day went into the synagogue, but not to listen to the priests, but Himself to teach. His family was there, and His neighbors who had known Him from babyhood. They heard Him talk and said to one another: "Is not this the carpenter, the son of Mary, the brother of James, and Joses ,and of Juda, and Simon? and are not His sisters here with us?" and St. Luke tells us "they were offended at Him."

Charge Russians Hypnotize Witness

VIENNA, Jan. 13.—(INS)—U. S. army doctors speculated Wednesday that the Russians may have used hypnotism to force a woman witness to the murder of an American official to retract her original story.

The woman is Dana Superina, a Yugoslav D. P., who originally told Austrian police that she saw four Russian soldiers seize and beat Irving Ross, U. S. Marsahll plan expert in Vienna.

She was later taken into custody by the Soviets, and retracted her testimony. Miss Superina is currently in a U. S. army hospital. She was released by the Russians.

Doctors attending her say that she shows signs of "post-hypnotic suggestion."

They report that although the woman refuses to withdraw her revised version of the incident—in which she said she could not identify the nationality of Ross' attackers—she often breaks down when confronted with the contradiction in her stories.

AT LAST THE STORY CAN BE TOLD! Medical science developed the amazing wonder-working drugs Sulfa and Penicillin... then turned attention to relieving the agonizing pains caused by rheumatism and arthritis. The result of extensive research is a wonder-working ingredient which is now combined with other pharmaceuticals into a remarkable preparation called IMDRIN. Longtime sufferers from rheumatism, arthritis, neuritis, and gout may find IMDRIN gives glorious relief so sensationally fast it's really amazing! Only after three long years of clinical work and hospital testing was this fast, safe pain-killer developed, but today it is REALITY. If you suffer rheumatic pain ask for IMDRIN at drug stores.

DEVELOPED AFTER THREE YEARS OF EXTENSIVE TESTS IN HOSPITAL CLINICS

IMDRIN has been a closely guarded experimental secret before release for public use. Yes, medical men, after three years of extensive hospital tests, have proved conclusively that IMDRIN works internally toward amazing reduction of pain, heat, redness, and swelling in the joints. Patients undergoing IMDRIN therapy in these hospital clinics often were able to resume comfortable living completely, after other remedies had failed. Every victim of rheumatism, arthritis, neuritis, sciatica, gout, neuralgia, etc., should investigate this new development of modern medicine. Ask for IMDRIN at drug stores. Truly IMDRIN is today's big proprietary success.

Now, for the first time in years, I can move about without pain and enjoy life once again. Surely the thousands of unfortunates like me who are seeking relief from the pains of arthritis should be happy to learn about the blessed, fast-acting ingredient which IMDRIN contains. MRS. A. R. WEBB

* "I am not getting paid for these words, but I want everyone to know what I know about IMDRIN. I had rheumatism and arthritis in my left shoulder and arm so bad I could hardly use it. Everytime I moved my arm it hurt just like sticking a knife into it. I was like a one-armed person. I tried all kinds of remedies that did no good. Then I tried IMDRIN. Now since I have IMDRIN, I suffer no more pain! No one can realize the wonderful relief it gives a person that suffered like I did. IMDRIN is worth hundreds of dollars to me."

* "Even though my daughter is a registered nurse she could not find anything to help her agonizing arthritic pains. She tried everything but nothing did her any good. Then she bought IMDRIN and she has had miraculous results. I am going to tell all my friends about the wonderful relief from IMDRIN. It really is an amazing remedy.

WHERE RHEUMATISM STRIKES ...AND HOW TO DETECT IT!

Rheumatic and arthritic pain and inflammation can strike the joints in any of the indicated affected areas. (See arrows in chart above.) But these diseases have many forms and each form has varying symptoms. Sometimes the bones about the joints get larger and this growth interferes with the function of the joint. This condition is known as osteoarthritis or bone rheumatism. Rheumatoid arthritis is an infection of the joints which fill with fluid; the skin around them may be red, the joints themselves swollen and painful. Still another form is specific infectious arthritis.

All these various forms of arthritis and rheumatism are accompanied by pain, very often swelling and loss of function of the joints. Hospital and clinical test patients undergoing IMDRIN therapy, some of whom had suffered hopelessly for as long as twenty years, were able to resume more happy, active living once the pain subsided and their confidence grew. In cases where the joints were swollen and somewhat calcified, IMDRIN, working internally, reduced swelling and eased pain rapidly. These patients, many of whom had given up hope, were able to once again resume comfortable living. It is true that response to IMDRIN varied occasionally and your own experience may or may not coincide with that of patients tested. But IMDRIN today is your greatest hope. IMDRIN, with the new wonder-working ingredient, may give you the same blessed successful results. Get IMDRIN today!

Kiwanians Hear Television Talk

Wayne Sines Explains Workings Of New Radio Transmission To Fellow Club Members

New Castle Kiwanis Club members heard an interesting talk on television, which was given by Wayne U. Sines, a club member, at the noon luncheon meeting of the club, in The Castleton, Wednesday.

He explained how television worked, and the many obstacles which had to be overcome before it became a reality and could be transmitted any considerable distance, the necessity of synchronizing the video with the camera, and the diversion of the sound over another route so that it would not interfere with the picture channel, then getting it together again at the other end.

The cost of installation, he stated varies, depending on where a person lives. The cost of installation for those residing on hilltops is less than for those residing in the valleys.

He stated that in his opinion, sets which are purchased now would be modern for another five years. In order to have the regular radio programs, however, another AM-FM set would be needed, but in television equipment, this is generally included. The cost of adding television to a regular radio would be considerable, he stated.

Court House

Two Ruled Out Of Pension Plan

County Solicitor Rules Plan Is An Increase In Salary —Cites Constitution

OTHER EVENTS IN COURT HOUSE

By a ruling of County Solicitor William McElwee Jr., Register and Recorder Orville Potter and District Attorney Leroy K. Donaldson are not entitled to the provisions of the county retirement plan.

Mr. McElwee has ruled that no county officer is entitled to an increase in salary during the time for which he is elected. The retirement plan was adopted December 3, 1947 at which time the two officers were already serving. Under the constitution, an officer cannot accept any increase in his compensation during the term for which he was elected. Both officers were already in office when the plan was adopted.

The other elected officers who are in the plan were re-elected in November of 1947 and took office after the plan was put into effect.

Said Mr. Potter: "I am not taking issue with Mr. McElwee in his ruling except to say that it seems odd this ruling was not applied a year ago when the retirement plan was put into effect. For some time I have contended the plan was not intended for elected officials as much as it was for the appointed employes.

"When it developed recently that some of the elected officers seemed to be entitled to a large cash surrender value in five years I suggested this should be changed and offered to resign from the retirement plan in order that I would not be eligible for benefits I thought were unfair."

ANNUAL STATEMENT READY

The annual financial statement of the county, prepared by County Controller Andrew M. Dodds, has been completed and has been signed by the court. It will be ready for publication in a short time.

Tomato Growers Get Fine Yield

HARRISBURG, Jan. 13.—(INS)—Improved production practices resulted in increased yields to tomato growers during 1948, it was reported today by James O. Dutt, Pennsylvania State College vegetable specialist.

At a meeting of the Pennsylvania Vegetable Growers Association, held in conjunction with the 1949 State farm show, Dutt said that more than 1,300 growers averaged 10 tons or more of tomatoes per acre last year.

Tomato growers generally, Dutt said, made a better land selection for their crop and used adequate fertilizer with proper methods of application to obtain the high yields.

Cite Failure To Use Scientists In War To Best Advantage

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—(INS)—The Army urged today that steps be taken to avoid the World War II failure of the armed services to utilize scientists effectively.

In a 98-page report the Research and Development Division of the Army General Staff admitted that the Selective Service System and organized Reserve Corps failed woefully to place scientists in jobs that used their technical abilities.

The report was based on a study of the case histories of 15,157 scientists and engineers who were in the armed forces during World War II.

It revealed that only 29.6 per cent of these were "well utilized," and that 23 per cent were given service jobs that made no use whatsoever of their capabilities. Of the balance, 15.4 per cent used their skills half the time; 18.3 per cent were employed in "collateral fields," and the technical skills of 13.7 per cent were utilized a "small portion of time."

The report added that the Selective Service System broke down badly in drafting of scientists, not only during but after the war.

It added that the Organized Reserve Corps, which brought many officers into service, "was notably deficient" in use of scientific manpower.

Find Robber After Three-Year Search

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Jan. 13.—(INS)—A 37-year-old man sought for three years after allegedly robbing a Harrisburg, Pa., soldier of $7,000 was jailed in Jersey City Wednesday.

Abraham Bland, a handyman, was taken to the Hudson county jail in default of $5,000 bail after he had been arrested in Plainfield, N. J., and arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Thomas Clohosey in Newark.

Clohosey set a hearing for Friday in Newark to determine if the man arrested is the Abraham Bland named in a Harrisburg grand jury indictment returned in January, 1946.

If the man is idetnified as Bland, Clohosey said, he will be returned to Harrisburg by a United States marshal.

The indictment charged that Bland robbed the soldier of $6,000 in postal money orders and $1,000 cash in 1945.

Blood-Type Cards Have Valuable Data

Carriers Of Cards May Save Precious Time In Cases Of Emergency Transfusions

The blood-type card given to each person contributing blood to the Lawrence County Red Cross blood donor program here can prove to be a priceless reward in time of need, Chairman of the Blood Donor Committee Dr. Wilbur E. Flannery pointed out today.

"Each donor's blood type is noted for him on a card that should be carried at all times," the physician stated. "In case he himself needs emergency transfusions, precious minutes will not have to be wasted in typing or finding suitable donors."

Would Save Time

Explaining that each donor's individual card lists, in addition to his type, his Rh factor, the chairman went on to point out that in case of emergency calling for a transfusion approximately 30 minutes are required to type the patient and that more time must be spent in finding a type and Rh factor to match him. If, however, physicians know the accident victim's blood type it can be matched in a matter of moments from blood already typed and stored for such emergencies.

"When residents of this community contribute their blood they are not only helping their neighbors," Dr. Flannery said, "but they also obtain a small blood-type card that may save their own lives some day."

Donors Can Register

It was pointed out that donors can register by stopping at the Red Cross headquarters at 39 North Beaver street any weekday morning between 10 and 12 noon or in the afternoon from 3 to 5 p. m., when Miss Kathleen C. Angellillo, technician, will type and classify the donor's blood and an appointment made later for donation of the blood.

The Lawrence County Red Cross chapter is cooperating with the Lawrence County Medical society in this great peacetime program to provide a blood bank at Lawrence county hospitals so that blood will be available to everyone when needed at no cost except the customary laboratory fee. This program is only possible through the generosity of blood donors in this county.

Around Hollywood

By FRANK NEILL

(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 13. — Alan Ladd, "who used to be a newspaperman himself," portrays a reporter in his latest screen stint.

But if Ladd is any criterion of the craft, then all we can say is that a big bunch of working newspaper stiffs must have been behind the barn when the brains were passed out.

Mister Ladd enacts the role of a rough and tumble reporter during a great heyday of slambang journalism in Paramount's "Chicago Deadline".

Kindly ganderize Ladd's movements during an average day of converting his character into that of an average newsman:

A Filipino house-boy awakens the movie star at 6:30 a.m. He helps the boss select a dressy suit of clothes from a king-size wardrobe. And then, while Al runs an electric razor over his bristly beard and dresses, the valet-butler sets a big breakfast table.

Then Sue Carroll Ladd, the marster's missus, drives him into Hollywood aboard a shiny top-down convertible (except during Southern California big-freezes). Some mornings, Ladd pilots himself to the studio in one of his other cars.

Owns Fine Ranch

At intervals during his day's chores, Al puts in long-distance telephone calls to his ranch. This "reporter" really possesses a real ranch. And real horses prance upon the premises.

While many newsmen play the hosses, Ladd breeds them. He owns 15 thoroughbreds, in fact, and races three of the beetles in the big time. He seldom bets, though, except for sentiment—and maybe there is a mighty moral there somewhere.

Poor Alan Ladd finds his duties as a reporter most strenuous, indeed. He is forced to mess up his golden locks and rip open his shirt collar—but he never utters a syllable of complaint.

When he is through earning one day's portion of his $3,500-a-week salary, an assistant wipes off his mugg and another flunky helps him into nice clean clothes.

But Alan Ladd is a brave soul. When he feels that his managing editor should be told off, Mr. Ladd tells him off. And he dodges bullets like some authentic newsmen dodge bill collectors.

(Ain't it funny how high-priced Hollywood screen writers, who never have stuck their noggins inside a city room, fool the public by the way they brainstorm newspaper stories for the screen? Try telling off your managing editor sometime.)

Ladd is one of the few actors in the film dodge who actually has ever worked on a newspaper.

Before Hollywood latched onto him, and vice versa, Ladd was a combination reporter and advertising salesman on a weekly paper in the San Fernando Valley.

Business College Hears Discussion Of City Wage Tax

Climaxing a week of study on the new city wage tax at New Castle Business College, Attorney Robert Jamison, assistant city solicitor delivered a 45 minute lecture on the subject and conducted an interesting question and answer session for the more than 50 students present.

Jamison first talked to the pupils on the importance of their knowing the "whys" or theory of the act so that they would be better fitted to do the actual mechanics of the work involved upon graduation.

Later he compared the city's current budget and payroll expenses with that of the middle thirties. He pointed out that the payroll then was 30 to 35 per cent of the budget compared to more than 60 per cent of the total now.

He stressed the fact that it is necessary for the city to secure a source of increased revenue if it was to continue to prosper and make some of the city improvements that the citizens desire.

Attorney Jamison complimented the students at the conclusion of the question period for their great number of interesting, intelligent questions.

The city wage tax law has become part of the curriculum at the business college and will be taught to the night school classes during the spring semester.

Balance On City Hall Purchase Expected Soon

Mayor John F. Haven today stated that Martin Berger of Youngstown, who bought the city building at East and East Washington street, is expected to pay $94,500, representing the balance on the amount paid for the structure, which was $105,000, within a short time.

Attorneys are looking up the title for the property, and as soon as they verify that everything is right, the balance will be paid, the mayor explained.

Pen-Pal Romance Fails At Sharon

SHARON, Pa., Jan. 13.—(INS)—A woman's right to change her mind resulted Wednesday in the marriage of a pretty teen-aged French girl to an Ohio school teacher.

Miss Monique Roze, 19, came to Sharon from France several months ago to marry Rudy Finamore, 21. The romance had developed from a "pen-pal" correspondence of several years.

But Monique and Rudy discovered that the real romance wasn't quite up to the standards of their correspondence, and decided to call it off.

Then Monique met Louis Dellacroce, a school teacher in Brookfield township, just over the state line in Ohio. It was love at first sight, and Justice of the Peace Robert Aiken of Vienna, O., united the couple.

Three-Way Radio System May Be Provided Police

Mayor John F. Haven, by virtue of his office, superintendent of police is seriously thinking of having a three-way radio system for police installed. At present a two-way system is in effect.

Under a three-way system, police in cruisers can talk to each other, and also to the radio sergeant at police headquarters.

State police have had a three-way radio system for some time.

Twenty-six million feet of snow fence is used throughout Pennsylvania to control drifting snow the Department of Highways reports.

Twenty-Three Teachers Ask Salary Boost

In a signed petition, twenty-three teachers of the New Castle public schools asked for an adjustment of their salaries at the school board meeting.

The petition set out that each of the 23 had been given the Bachelor of Arts degree some time ago and that each was receiving the maximum salary of $2,800. It was pointed out that a teacher receiving her bachelor's degree in 1948, who had equal or less experience, was receiving $2950.

This is a condition which has existed in somewhat similar fashion among teacher carrying a Master of Arts degree. Apetition similar to this one was received by the board a month ago and was tabled, pending the preparation of the 1949-50 budget. The same action was taken Wednesday night and this petition will be considered at that time, although the petition itself asks that a $150 adjustment retroactive to September 1, 1948 be made.

Matter of Bonsuses

The matter of bonsuses to athletic coaches came before the board Wednesday night when a letter from a teacher to her colleagues in the senior high school was read. This letter suggested that inasmuch as teachers who were in athletics were given a bonus recently, some action was about due for all other teachers. It was asked that the senior high school teachers present their reactions to the letter.

Several of the board expressed themselves as approving the stand of the senior high school teacher and it is likely one or more teachers will be asked to be at the February meeting of the board.

Slippery Rock Fire Auxiliary Elects

Mrs. Edna Allison Is Elected President Of Township Department Auxiliary

Election of officers for the coming year took place at the meeting of the Slippery Rock Township Volunteer Firemen's Auxiliary, which was held in the firemen's hall in Princeton.

The following were named to serve the auxiliary for next year: President, Mrs. Edna Allison; vice president, Mrs. Stella Verna; secretary, Mrs. Elizabeth Miller; treasurer, Mrs. Roseabelle Young; chaplain, Mrs. Ada Wilson.

The next meeting of the auxiliary will take place on January 24, when the new officers will assume their duties.

At the close of Monday evening's meeting, delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Margaret Leathers, Mrs. Bea Gibson, and Mrs. Minnie Baldwin.

Pastor Declares Charges Were Proven False

GLENDALE, Calif., Jan. 13.—(INS)—The handsome, 46-year-old pastor of Glendale's fashionable First Baptist church asserted today that charges that he was guilty of misconduct with 40 women of his congregation "have been proven false."

The pastor, the Rev. J. Whitcomb Brougher Jr., labelled the accusations as "untrue" in a stout denial of the alleged "debauching" actions.

The minister declared in answer to a law suit filed by a former deaconess of the church and a member of the congregation who are seeking his removal from the pulpit:

"I can say that the accusations are untrue and have been proven to be false before committees, the deacon's branch, and in an open meeting of the entire church three or four years ago".

State Farmers Are Given Advice On Crop Goals Of '49

HARRISBURG, Jan. 13.—(INS)—Pennsylvania farmers today had the advice of their crop goals committees to reduce production of potatoes, milk and corn and to grow more turkeys, sheep, hogs and beef in 1949.

Production goals are arrived at from the previous year's market fluctations, base-point averages, anticipated market conditions in the future, price supports and the general world condition.

The Federal government undertakes to make crop goal suggestions and the farmers themselves determine what proportion of the national goals they will raise.

District Future Farmers Honored

Additional Future Farmer of America placings announced at the State Farm Show at Harrisburg brought honors to three Slippery Rock boys, according to word received from James C. Fink, vocational agriculture supervisor for Lawrence, Beaver and Butler counties, who is at the show.

Jack Barron won first place with his exhibit of Duroc-Jersey hogs; Roy Wimer, second place in soybeans; Hugh Cooper, second place in field corn.

TRIAL NEARS JURY

WOODBURY, N. J., Jan. 13.—(INS)—The trial of Alfred H. Collins, 37-year-old Philadelphian accused of the gravel-pit slaying of Alberta Sharp, 16, was expeeted to reach the jury today.

An alleged confession—read in court yesterday—revealed for the first time that Collins, a Negro, had admitted slaying the high school student as part of a "suicide pact".

State Police Detective Sergeant Louis J. Bornemann testified that Collins had made an oral and written confession in which he said he lost his nerve after he shot the girl.

Civic Group Urges City Hall Clean-Up For Quaker City

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 13.—(INS)—Mayor Bernard Samuel was urged Wednesday by the committee of seventy, influential civic group, to correct "mismanagement" in City Hall or else "other means" would be used.

Walter P. Miller, Jr., committee chairman, warned the mayor in a bluntly-worded letter that the chief executive "must be held fully answerable for failures of all departments under his control."

Miller did not specify what "other means" would be employed. It has been reported, however, that a thorough commonwealth probe of the city administration might be asked.

The committee's letter followed a judicial go-ahead for an impeachment probe of Receiver of Taxes W. Frank Marshall and a grand jury recommendation for prosecution of Fire Marshal George J. Gallagher and seven of his aides.

Urges Adoption Of Pennsylvania Dutch As World Language

HARRISBURG, Jan. 13.—(INS)—Pennsylvania Dutch would make a good universal language.

That was the recommendation given to a meeting of the Pennsylvania Society of Farm Women at the State Farm show by Prof. J. M. Frey, of Franklin and Marshall college in Lancaster.

With tongue in cheek, Frey pointed out that "the Pennsylvania Dutchman gets down to brass tacks and is specific about his feelings". The language, he said, shows strength of character, clarity and exactness.

"It's never been harnessed," he explained. "There's no other language with so many free variations which can be used or discarded at random, but which are at the same time understood by anybody anywhere.

Since it is a mixture of southwest German dialect, the rules of Pennsylvania Dutch "do not hold you in and cramp your style like formal laws of language," he explained.

Lower Forms Of Life Have Little To Fear During Atomic Age, Curator Announces

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—(INS)—A noted scientist declared Wednesday that the lower forms of life, at least, have little to fear in the atomic age.

Dr. Leonard P. Schultz, curator of fishes of the U. S. National Museum, reported effects of the Bikini A-bomb tests on sea life in the area covered by the nuclear explosions.

Schultz said in the report of the Smithsonian Institution, a compendium of articles on recent developments in science, that fishes in the Bikini atoll region are carrying on essentially as if nothing had happened.

The ichthyologist, revisiting Bikini a year after detonation of the bombs, found the same species of fish and other marine organisms in about the same abundance as before the tests.

He said that 'doubtless many millions of individual fishes were killed, but there was slight, if any, effect on races."

However, Schultz added that there is small comfort in this for human beings and other higher forms of animal life, since they probably are more sensitive to destructive radiations than the lower creatures.

French Commies May Offer Peace Feelers

PARIS, Jan. 13.—(INS)—Diplomatic circles in Paris speculated Wednesday that the new Soviet peace offensive—through the medium of the French communist party—may be under way.

Observers gave as reason for the speculation an asserted conciliatory attitude shown by French communists at yesterday's opening of the National Assembly in Paris.

Communist Deputy Marcel Cachin issued an appeal for Soviet-American unity, which the conservative newspaper Le Monde termed "elegantly made".

Cachin recalled previous east-west accords, and asked for a new meeting of Soviet and American leaders.

Drys Ready For Biennial Battle Against Liquor

HARRISBURG, Jan. 13.—(INS)—Pennsylvania drys Wednesday indicated they were ready for their biennial legislative battle against liquor.

The federated legislative committee, made up of 12 state-wide anti-liquor organizations, voted at Harrisburg, to sponsor legislation to require an annual audit of all club receipts to show the liquor control board that the sale of liquor is only incidental.

The committee intends to sponsor bills to put licensed clubs on the same footing as other licensees in the same municipality, to include clubs and hotels within quota limits, and to close club bars on Sundays.

Revision of the local option provisions of the liquor laws to provide for local option voting by city wards — including wholesale distributors when voting on beer licenses, and to exclude state liquor stores from communities that vote out liquor licenses—was another plank in the federation's legislaive program.

Modification of the "offer in compromise" rule to require violators to have permits suspended for half of a suspension period before "in lieu" payments may be accepted, was slated for heavy support.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

Old Man Wartels, weighed down with business worries, consulted the family physician, who prescribed a two-month rest in the sunshine of the Arizona desert. "Can't afford it," snapped Wartels decisively. "All right," said the doctor. "So you use psychology. Close your eyes tight for two hours every day, and imagine you're lying naked under that burning Arizona sun."

Three days later, Wartels' wife phoned the doctor from their Washington Heights apartment. "Come quick," she begged, "my husband is wrapped up in all the blankets with his eyes shut, hollering he's dying." "What of?" asked the doctor. "Sunstroke," said Mrs. Wartels.

Edward Laycock, a Boston literary editor, claims he knows a wonderful way to improve the flavor of salt. "All you have to do," says Laycock, "is take a pinch in your hand and spread over a fat, juicy sirloin steak."

RELIEF PAYMENTS

HARRISBURG—Ramsey S Black, state treasurer, announced that direct payments to needy Pennsylvanians during the week ended Wednesday, Dec. 29, totaled $350,914 written in 28,336 checks.

Last winter's snow removal cost the Pennsylvania Department of Highways $7,000,000. Incidentally expenditure of this sum gives Pennsylvania another top—the best snow removal program in the nation.

MATERIALS DO VARY IN COLORFASTNESS

Consumers expect the garments they buy to retain their original colors when used under many different conditions. Is this reasonable? Miss Kelley gives the following information on that subject. A group of 37 spun rayon fabrics were studied recently to determine the degree of colorfastness to light, to laundering by hand, to crocking and to perspiration. The study also was planned to learn where the price paid had any relation to the colorfastness of the fabric. These prices ranged from 64 cents to $1.85 per yard.

Laboratory tests were used to determine colorfastness to light, laundering and to perspiration and crocking. Only a very small percentage crocked when dry, and when wet. But one-third of the samples faded when laundered and more than this number "bled" excessively. More than one-third failed to give satisfactory service when exposed to sunlight. Colorfastness to perspiration was poor.

Since a fabric may be colorfast under some conditions and not under others any label guaranteeing colorfastness should state the conditions under which it is colorfast: for example, to washing, light, perspiration, or to all three.

In this group of materials, higher prices did not assure any better colorfastness ,since the lowest priced fabrics averaged the highest in colorfastness to light, and washing. The highest priced fabrics rated the lowest on colorfastness to light. Some fabrics rated high in one test and low in others.

Of what value is this to the shopper? She must look for specific information on the labels, and she cannot depend upon perfect colorfastness.

NEGLECT COSTLY WHERE REPAIRS ARE NECESSARY

A stitch in time saves nine—in making repairs to buildings, as any number of Lawrence county farmers will attest. Neglect means deterioration and depreciation, especially where roofs and foundations are concerned. Neglect costs more than repairs.

When replacing sills or posts, keep them off the ground by using concrete foundations or steel posts, or use pressure-treated lumber to insure against rot and decay.

Winter months often afford opportunity for doing inside repair and construction work. Changing the location of feed bins, or building overhead bins for gravity feed, can pay real dividends in reduced chore time. The same can be said for rearrangement of pens and ties for young stock and dry cows.

FRUIT TREE PRUNING AN ALL-WINTER JOB

Pruning of fruit trees can be started in January and continued until the work is completed.

First on the list should be apple, cherry and pear trees, grapevines, and bramble fruits, such as raspberries and brush fruits. Peaches can wait until About February 1, unless the acreage is of such size that the job could not be compleetd in time if started at that late date.

Non-bearing trees should receive a light pruning designed to train the framework, while bearing trees are pruned with the aim of producing high-quality fruit.

The pruning should open up the tree to permit light penetrating for efficient leaf development and functioning, and to enable thorough spray coverage.

A general thinning all over the tree should be practiced, but in the case of older trees which have attained considerable height, they should be trimmed to lower their height, thereby facilitating satisfactory spray coverage, and and at the same time making thinning and harvesting easier, and lowering the cost of production.

Public Inquiry In Western Air Crash

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—(INS)—The Civil Aeronautics Board Wednesday ordered a public inquiry into the fatal air crash at Seattle, Wash., January 2 which claimed the lives of 13 Yale students and a three-man flight crew.

The specially chartered DC-3 was transporting 27 Yale students back to college after their Christmas holidays when it crashed in taking off at Seattle's Boeing airport.

The CAB scehduled the hearings to begin January 18 at the Federal court house in Seattle "to determine the probable cause" of the disaster.

Francis H. McAdams of the CAB's safety investigation bureau was designated to preside, assisted by Leon D. Cuddeback, chief of the board's regional office in Seattle.

More Clean Stream Payments Are Made

HARRISBURG, Jan. 13.—(INS)—The state sanitary water board Wednesday announced that 12 additional municipalities have been paid a total of $38,997 as the state's share of the cost of preparation of plans for sewage treatment works under the state stream clean-up campaign.

The state finances up to 50 per cent of the cost of preparing plans for sewage treatment works.

The payments bring to $540,944 the amount paid thus far to 97 municipalities.

Latest payments included:

Allegheny county— Penn township $3780.

Crawford county — Springboro $600.

Luzerne county—Avoca $2,847 Du Pont $3,150, Duryea $596.

Montgomery county—Norristown $12,932.

Willie Howard's Funeral Will Be Held Friday

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—(INS)—Funeral services for Willie Howard, 63, one of America's most beloved comedians, will be held at 2 p.m. Friday in New York City.

The veteran actor who died yesterday will be buried at Cedar Park, Emerson, N. J.

Howard, a small man with a matchless gift of mimicry, had scampered his hilarious way through show business for half a century. For many years he was a member of the famed comedy team of Willie and Eugene Howard.

The Howard brothers made their debut in show business in the gay '90s by winning a number of amateur singing contests. Willie got his first professional singing job as a boy soprano in the Anna Held troupe.

New November Record For Milk Production

HARRISBURG.—A new November record of 395,000,000 pounds of milk was produced on Pennsylvania farms last month, three per cent above the November 1947 total, the State Department of Agriculture reported today.

However, milk production for this November showed a nine per cent drop from October, according to Federal-State surveys.

Although production per cow in Pennsylvania herds declined seasonally, mild weather, combined with liberal feeding of concentrates and roughage, served to establish a November record of 16.9 pounds per cow per day.

NEUTRALIZING PLANT IN USE

Installed At Valley Manufacturing Company Plant To Prevent Stream Pollution

A neutralizing plant for the treatment of spent pickle liquor, produced in the course of manufacturing steel, has been installed at the New Castle rolling mill of the Valley Manufacturing Co., a subsidiary of the Hudson Motor Co., to abate pollution of the stream as is required under the clean streams program of the Sanitary Water Board.

Included in the finishing process in rolling mills the steel sheets are put through an acid bath to remove scales. The liquid used in the bath is highly acid. The treatment plant neutralizes the acid pickling liquors. It includes tanks for storing waste waters before they are treated, tanks in which lime is mixed with the spent pickle liquor, and a large lagoon where the sludge settles out of the neutralized waste waters.

Chinese Ambassador Fears Communist Control Of China

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—(INS)—The Chinese ambassador to the United States warned that Communist control of China could give the Reds the vast military and economic potential to enslave the world.

Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo said if the Communists take complete control of China, it is certain that the repercussions in Asia will be far-reaching.

The ambassador spoke in New York last night where he received the Alexander Hamilton award of the association of the Alumni Columbia college.

Skepticism Greets Report Of Suicide By 'Atomic Pill'

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—(INS) Dr. J. A. Hipple, one of the nation's top nuclear phycisists, today described the reported "atomic pill suicide" of an Austrian engineer in Venice as "strictly out of this world".

Hipple, who is engaged in atomic research at the U. S. bureau of standards, said he believed Venice authorities were unduly alarmed in burying the Austrian, Edward Selzer, without an autopsy, in order to get rid of the body before the "pill" exploded.

The scientist observed:

"'In the first place, in order to create an atomic pill or anything atomic, Herr Selzer would have required a great deal of equipment."

Chicago, Jan. 13.—(INS)—A spokesman for the atomic energy commission greeted with skepticism today reports that an Austrian engineer had committed suicide in Venice by swallowing an explosive "atomic pill".

Howard G. Baldwin, commission public relations officer, declared:

"You could call the most harmless sugar-coated pill an atomic pill.

"But to set up an atomic chain reaction explosion is another matter entirely.

"A peculiar set of circumstances is involved in atomic explosions which makes the idea of a pill containing that peril absurd."

Named To Lead Battle Against Repeal Of Law

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—(INS)—Rep. McConnell (R) Pa., was selected by the house Republican leadership today to lead the fight against repeal of the Taft-Hartley law.

McConnell was named to become minority leader of the house labor committee as Rep. Hoffman (R) Mich., announced his resignation from the group.

Hoffman, who was in line to become ranking minority member of the labor committee, said he prefers retaining his seniority on the house expenditures committee which he headed last session.

McConnell, an investment banker from Wynnewood, Pa., will head a group of nine Republicans who will serve on the house committee. The majority-minority ratio was altered this session to give the Democrats an additional member, making the majority total 16.

Announce Plans YW Convention

Local YWCA To Submit Names Of Delegates To Attend Convention In San Francisco

MARCH 7-14 ARE CONVENTION DATES

Members of the YWCA Convention committee met with the chairman, Mrs. J. W. Balentine Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. to further discuss plans for the local association's participation in the convention.

March 7-14 is the date, San Francisco the place for the most important event in the coming association year. The event belongs to all association members, for it is the occasion of the eighteenth national convention, marking the culmination of the three-year cycle since the Atlantic City convention in 1946.

After two successive conventions at Atlantic City in 1940 and 1946, it seemed very fitting to accept San Francisco's invitation to the Far West. That this year marks also the centennial of the Gold Rush of '49 adds special glamour to the prospect of meeting in California.

Ask For Delegates' Names

The local committee is asking each YWCA group to submit names of prospective delegates who measure up to certain qualifications. Probably two of the most important qualifications are that a girl or woman should have carried real responsibility in her group and that she have a constructive influence with her associates.

The cost of conventions, like everything else, has increased unavoidably. That, in addition to the distance, make a tidy sum of money necessary. Mrs. Ballentine gave a splendid report from the Ways and Means committee of the board for raising money of which Mrs. Arthur B. Foster is chairman. The convention committee is also asking each adult club to be responsible for $50 and the Y-Teen department for $100.

The committee plans for each group to discuss at least one of the issues on the convention agenda. Findings will then be given to our delegates that they may be guided when voting at convention by New Castle's thinking.

Committee

On the convention committee are Mrs. J. W. Balentine, Miss Mildred Engs, Mrs. William Lestas, Mrs. Clark McClelland, Miss Betty Jane Metzner, Miss Bonny Nelson, Miss Jeen Nunn.

Mrs. Balentine plans to confer with Mrs. John F. Talbert when she goes into Pittsburgh tomorrow. Mrs. Talbert is chairman of the Pittsburgh convention committee.

On the Ways and Means committee are Mrs. Arthur B. Foster, Mrs. Paul F. Butz and Mrs. Harold Glenn.

LARGE SIGN ON STRUCTURE

Every motorist arriving on Route 422 in New Castle knows a new city building is being erected here, if he reads a large sign which was placed on the city building, stating that it is the new Municipal building.

Plan Burial For Medal Winner

Full Military Honors Will Be Accorded Howard, Pa. Veteran On Sunday Afternoon

HOWARD, Pa., Jan. 13.—(INS)—Howard's outstanding soldier in World War II, Pfc. Foster Sayers, will be buried with full military honors Sunday.

The body of the 20-year-old Congressional Medal of Honor winner was returned from an overseas grave yesterday.

Military rites will be held in the Methodist church at Howard beginning at 2 p.m. Sunday. Burial will be in Schenck cemetery, with Bellefonte American Legion post and the Howard Veterans of Foreign Wars post in attendance.

Sayers was awarded the nation's highest military honor post posthumously October 19, 1945.

He was credited with advancing alone with his heavy machine gun to within 20 yards of a German emplacement to break up resistance which had halted his company. A short while later he was killed by a heavy concentration of enemy fire. He was a veteran of fighting with the 90th division in France.

The Congressional Medal was accepted by his widow, Mrs. Ellen Gardner Sayers, of Howard, and his four-year-old son, whom he had never seen.

Recluse Leaves $100,000 Estate

MEDIA, Pa., Jan. 13.—(INS)—The will of an 81-year-old former school teacher whose death was attributed partly to malnutrition disclosed today that the recluse had assets of more than $100,000.

The woman, Miss Sarah Malin Caldwell, died at her Brookhaven home two days before Christmas while she was chopping wood for her coal stove. Her barely-furnished home had no electricity or luxuries.

A search of her house revealed more than $8,400 hidden in cans, drawers and under her rugs. Mortgages and bonds totaling $76,000 were also uncovered, and she was found to own real estate and valuable antiques.

First Aid Course Starts Tuesday

Thirty-four people have signed to take the standard Red Cross first aid course that starts Tuesday, January 18.

Because of the large number enrolling this time, it was necessary to divide the group into two classes. One group will meet each Tuesday from 7 to 10 o'clock in the evening and the other section will have the same meeting hours on Thursdays.

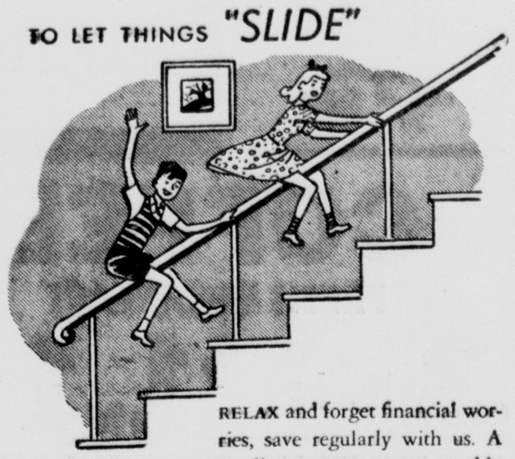

Sessions for the course, which lasts 18 hours or six weeks, will be held in the Pennsylvania Power Co. service building on Moravia street.

Second Suspect In 'Black Dahlia' Murder Quizzed

Claims Alibi In Case; Suspect Recently Held Is Given Release

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 13.—(INS)—A second suspect in the brutal "Black Dahlia" murder claimed an alibi today but Los Angeles authorities planned to question him intensively about the slaying.

Jeff Connors, 40-year-old writer, shouted when taken into custody: "I am absolutely innocent!

"I can prove exactly where I was at the time of the murder!"

Connors asserted that he rushed to police with what information he had when he heard of the baffling crime.

He admitted he had seen the "Black Dahlia" the night she was slain but screamed:

"I was with my wife . . ."

(Connors said his wife's name was Vicki Evans but not the one involved in the marijuana case with Actor Robert Mitchum and two other persons. The Vicki Evans involved in the narcotics trial and arrested on a fugitive warrant in New York, said she didn't know Connors, let alone marry him.)

Named By Dillon

Connors was named by Leslie Dillon, whom police had considered the "hottest suspect yet" in the sadistic crime of two years ago.

The red-haired Connors was arrested yesterday at Gilroy, Calif., on a tip supplied by Dillon, 27-year-old bellhop who was freed after steadfastly maintaining his innocence of the slaying.

Dillon, who described the murder of the 22-year-old "Black Dahlia"—Elizabeth Short—in fullest detail, said Connors told him the story of the party girl's being tortured, slashed and butchered.

Her nude, dismembered and cleanly-washed body was found in a Los Angeles lot on January 15, 1947.

Complaint Is Made To School Board About Building

Delegation Of Women Protests Condition Of Oak Street Building

Pulling no verbal punches, Mrs. Stephen Kleckner presented the condition of the Oak Street school to the school board Wednesday night.

Mrs. Kleckner and a group of several other women of the Oak Street district appeared before the board, with Mrs. Kleckner acting as spokesman.

Speaking about the toilet rooms of the building Mrs. Kleckner said "it isn't an odor it's a stink. It's a shame to subject boys and girls and teachers to such a condition. The building is a fire trap and the lighting is terrible.

"You gentlemen have just completed putting over $105,000 in the football stadium and it's about time you got over some of this athletic stuff. They tell me you are thinking of putting up a field house. I do not know just what a field house is, but you had better not think of a field house for a while.

"There isn't such a fine football stadium as ours between here and Erie. I would be ashamed to say we had that much money in a football plant, when we have such a school as Oak Street. I would like to know who comes up for election this year. If we can't get action one way we might get it at the polls."

The board agreed that the Building and Grounds Committee would meet at the Oak Street school next Wednesday afternoon and go over the situation.

KING TO REMAIN SEATED

LONDON, Jan. 13. — (INS) — Buckingham palace physicians today vetoed the desire of ailing King George VI to stand for two hours while awarding honors at a royal investure March 1.

They said the strain of standing for any long period would be too hard on the king's leg, which suffers from circulation difficulties.

Special arrangements have been made for the monarch to remain seated throughout the ceremonies. He will award honors to 300 British men and women.

The works of John Constable, noted English artist, were unappreciated at first except by a few, and he was forced to support himself by painting portraits or copies of pictures. The king of France later sent Constable a gold medal, and at last, in 1829, he was admitted to the Royal Academy, but accompanied by an unkind remark by the president, and too late to afford satisfaction. Constable died in 1837.

AMAZING NEW DISCOVERY FOR RHEUMATISM, ARTHRITIS

NO FASTER PAIN RELIEF KNOWN...SAFE...HOSPITAL TESTED

Stops Swelling...Uncorks Joints...Contains Sensational New Research Discovery

NEW, SAFE, SCIENTIFIC TABLET

Not a Narcotic... Not Habit Forming...

AT LAST THE STORY CAN BE TOLD! Medical science developed the amazing wonder-working drugs Sulfa and Penicillin... then turned attention to relieving the agonizing pains caused by rheumatism and arthritis. The result of extensive research is a wonder-working ingredient which is now combined with other pharmaceuticals into a remarkable preparation called IMDRIN. Longtime sufferers from rheumatism, arthritis, neuritis, and gout may find IMDRIN gives glorious relief so sensationally fast it's really amazing! There's nothing faster available to the public today. Contains no dope or harmful drugs. Only after three long years of clinical work and hospital testing was this fast, safe pain-killer developed, but today it is REALITY. If you suffer rheumatic pain ask for IMDRIN at drug stores.

DEVELOPED AFTER THREE YEARS OF EXTENSIVE TESTS IN HOSPITAL CLINICS

IMDRIN has been a closely guarded experimental secret before release for public use. Yes, medical men, after three years of extensive hospital tests, have proved conclusively that IMDRIN works internally toward amazing reduction of pain, heat, redness, and swelling in the joints. Patients undergoing IMDRIN therapy in these hospital clinics often were able to resume comfortable living completely, after other remedies had failed. Every victim of rheumatism, arthritis, neuritis, sciatica, gout, neuralgia; etc., should investigate this new development of modern medicine. Ask for IMDRIN at drug stores. Truly IMDRIN is today's big proprietary success.

Relieves Pain and Suffering After 20 Years of Torture!

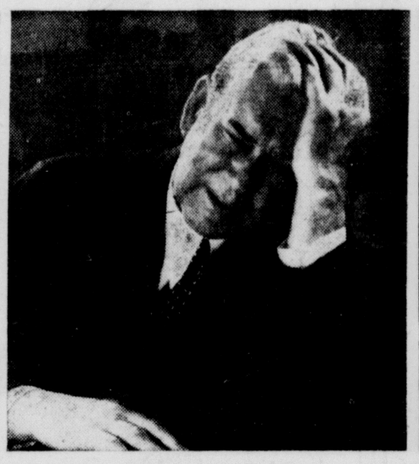

"I call IMDRIN a miracle and you can understand why when I tell you that the pain which had tortured and crippled me, and for which there seemed no relief, was gone after I had taken IMDRIN. Now, for the first time in years, I can move about without pain and enjoy life once again. Surely the thousands of unfortunates like me who are seeking relief from the pains of arthritis should be happy to learn about the blessed, fast-acting ingredient which IMDRIN contains. It surely goes to work fast and gets results."

Gratefully yours,
ARTHUR J. COLE
2757 Pine Grove, Chicago, Illinois

"I had arthritis and rheumatism so bad I could hardly get around. In fact, I went to several doctors who told me that my case was hopeless and that they could do nothing for me. Well, I had about given up hope when I saw your ad in the paper and bought a bottle of IMDRIN. I really think it's a wonder. I feel better with every dose I take. It seems like a dream to be free of so much pain."

MRS. A. R. WEBB
311 N. Bryan Street, Amarillo, Texas

"I am not getting paid for these words, but I want everyone to know what I know about IMDRIN. I had rheumatism and arthritis in my left shoulder and arm so bad I could hardly use it. Everytime I moved my arm it hurt just like sticking a knife into it. I was like a one-armed person. I tried all kinds of remedies that did no good. Then I tried IMDRIN. Now since I have IMDRIN, I suffer no more pain! No one can realize the wonderful relief it gives a person that suffered like I did. IMDRIN is worth hundreds of dollars to me."

A. C. STOCKTON
H1 N. Wheaton Avenue, Wheaton, Illinois

"Even though my daughter is a registered nurse she could not find anything to help her agonizing arthritic pains. She tried everything but nothing did her any good. Then she bought IMDRIN and she has had miraculous results. I am going to tell all my friends about the wonderful relief from IMDRIN. It really is an amazing remedy.

MRS. C. C.
Kunkletown, Pennsylvania

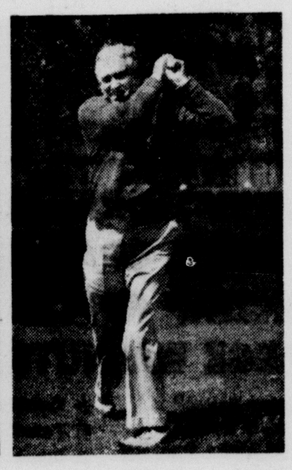

WHERE RHEUMATISM STRIKES ...AND HOW TO DETECT IT!

Rheumatic and arthritic pain and inflammation can strike the joints in any of the indicated affected areas. (See arrows in chart above.) But these diseases have many forms and each form has varying symptoms. Sometimes the bones about the joints get larger and this growth interferes with the function of the joint. This condition is known as osteoarthritis or bone rheumatism. Rheumatoid arthritis is an infection of the joints which fill with fluid; the skin around them may be red, the joints themselves swollen and painful. Still another form is specific infectious arthritis.

All these various forms of arthritis and rheumatism are accompanied by pain; very often swelling and loss of function of the joints. Hospital and clinical test patients undergoing IMDRIN therapy, some of whom had suffered hopelessly for as long as twenty years, were able to resume more happy, active living once the pain subsided and their confidence grew. In cases where the joints were swollen and somewhat calcified, IMDRIN, working internally, reduced swelling and eased pain rapidly. These patients, many of whom had given up hope, were able to once again resume comfortable living. It is true that response to IMDRIN varied occasionally and your own experience may or may not coincide with that of patients tested. But IMDRIN today is your greatest hope. IMDRIN, with the new wonder-working ingredient, may give you the same blessed successful results. Get IMDRIN today!

Gibson Looks Over Proposed City Spring Projects

Director of Public Improvements James Gibson today was busy scanning proposed improvements to be made here next spring or summer. One of the big jobs is the dredging of Neshannock Creek between a point north of the South Mill Street bridge, and a point south of the South Jefferson Street span. Dredging is necessary to allow proper under-clearance for a bridge which is to be erected by the state.

The bridge is to span the creek between Grove Street extension and the west embankment, or the South Jefferson Street side.

The city is to bear the cost of disposing of the dirt. The state will pay for the bridge.

Another job to be done is the replacement of curbs in Chartes Street.

Pine Street is to be resurfaced and a water-course in the rear of the Croton M. E. church is to be enclosed.

Reynolds Street is to be paved between Scioto and Moravia Street, Mr. Gibson stated.

Woman And Child Found Dead In Home Fire Ruins

HALLSTEAD, Pa., Jan. 13.—(INS)—The bodies of a 14-months-old child and Mrs. Nina Bulson, 58, a paralytic, were found Wednesday in the charred ruins of a one-story farm home in Great Bend township near Hallstead.

State police earlier had reported finding Mrs. Bulson but a search uncovered the body of the child, Russell Smith, son of Mrs. Blanche Smith who was absent at the time of the fire last night.

The fire was believed to have burned several hours before it was discovered by a neighbor.

A battered kerosene stove indicated an explosion had preceded the fire, according to Susquehanna County Coroner K. A. Bush.

The child's mother was in Binghamton, N. Y., with Mrs. Bulson's 15-year-old son when the tragedy occurred, state police reported.

Steel ingots are made in 27 states.

Challenge For President On Tax Proposal

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—(INS)—Rep. Charles Halleck (R) Ind., House majority leader in the last Congress, on Wednesday, challenged President Truman to repeal the GOP-enacted five billion dollar tax cut.

The Republican leader said that the president "as a matter of good faith," after attacking the GOP tax cut so strenuously in his campaign, ought to do something about it.

Halleck said:

"They say they're going to repeal the Taft-Hartley Labor Act. Then what about the Republican tax-reduction bill? Aren't they going to repeal that also?"

The Republican chieftain emphasized that "I still think it was a fair and good tax reduction bill," but added:

"The president and his people said some terrible things in his campaign about the tax bill passed last year by the Republican Congress. If they didn't really like that bill and thought it a mistake to pass it, then why don't they just repeal the tax bill passed by the 80th Congress.

One Way Of Doing It

"If the president really feels he has to have four billion dollars more in revenue, then that's one way of doing it.'

Halleck said Republican leaders have not discussed the president's tax proposal as yet, but indicated they would favor "effecting economies" in the administration's 42 billion dollar budget "to avoid tax rises."

Some economy-minded Democrats held the same views. Sen. Byrd (D) Va., expressed doubt that the president will get all he asked for in tax increases. He predicted Congress will cut the request in half at least.

Byrd said:

"With reasonable economies no tax increase at all would be necessary."

Two strong administration supporters—Reps. Dingell (D) Mich., and Eberharter (D) Pa.—expressed opposition to increasing personal income taxes of persons making less than $16,000 a year.

Offer $500 For Evidence That Will Free Man

READING, Pa., Jan. 13.—(INS)—The mother and sister of a slain Pottstown divorcee today offered $500 to any person supplying information that will free the 28-year-old woman's convicted killer.

The offer was made by Mrs. Katie O'Meara, of Mohnton, the mother of slain Miriam Green, and Mrs. Evelyn Eckenroth, Mrs. Green's sister.

Mrs. Green was found strangled to death with a scarf in her Pottstown apartment Dec. 9, 1946.

Police later arrested Gerald C. Wentzel, who admitted dating Mrs. Green, but denied the slaying. Wentzel was convicted of second degree murder and sentenced to 10 to 20 years.

Mrs. O'Meara and Mrs. Eckenroth testified on Wentzel's behalf during his trial.

They announced yesterday that they have retained Paul Kleinspehn, former Berks county detective chief, to investigate the case further until it is "solved once and for all."

According to local commandant's representative Walter Keiler, the first group of 2 ships will sail from Norfolk, Va., on January 30, for a two weeks' cruise. The second and largest group of reservists will be embarked in 8 ships including the carriers Roosevelt, Leyte, Kearsarge, and the battleship Missouri.

Local reservists who desrie more information about these training cruises should attend the Thursday night meeting of the special Naval reserve recruiting team on duty in the Post Office beginning at 8 o'clock.

State Lands Produce Much Natural Gas

HARRISBURG, Jan. 13.—(INS)—More than 6,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas were produced on state-owned forest lands in Potter county between October 28 and November 30, it was reported Wednesday by the department of forests and waters.

Secretary M. F. Draemel said the natural gas yield from seven producing wells operated under lease to two companies have returned more than $24,000 to the commonwealth in royalties. The state receives four cents royalty on each 1,000 cubic feet, he explained.

The wells are being operated by the Godfrey L. Cabot Co., Inc., Boston, Mass., and the Allegheny Gas Co., of Port Allegheny on state-owned forest lands. The first well was brought in during October.

Draemel said the companies have reported that "the center of the gas field has not as yet been determined." He explained that about one-half of the potential production of the field is being transported and sold.

When the field is more fully developed the department expects to receive royalties amounting to more than $25,000 monthly, according to Draemel.

Blind Scientist Invents 'Seeing-Eye'

New Device Can Disclose Presence Of Obstacles Three To Fifteen Feet Distance

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—(INS)—A top-flight but totally blind Canadian scientists has invented a radar "seeing eye" which promises hitherto unknown relief to the millions of sightless people.

The new device operates on batteries and can disclose the presence, distance and direction of obstacles 3 to 15 feet away.

Briefly here's how it works:

A portable radar unit about the size of a woman's pocketbook bounces radio waves off approaching objects, warning the blind operator of their imminence by slight electrical shocks.

The impulses are relayed selectively to the fingers of one hand, each finger corresponding to a pre-determined distance from the operator to the obstacle.

Existence of the "supersonic eye" was revealed today by the National Research Council of Canada in a special report to the U.S. Department of Commerce.

In another report, from the council to the Canadian embassy in Washington, full credit for the "eye's" development was given to a sightless young radar expert on its staff. The embassy, however, refused to identify the "mystery" scientist.

Soil Conservation Breaks All Records

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—(INS)—The agriculture department said Wednesday that permanent soil conservation measures were applied to 21,567,000 acres in fiscal 1948, breaking all previous records in this field.

Chief H. H. Bennett of the soil conservation service said in his annual report that if present efforts are sharply increased soil erosion problems can be completely controlled in 20 to 30 years.

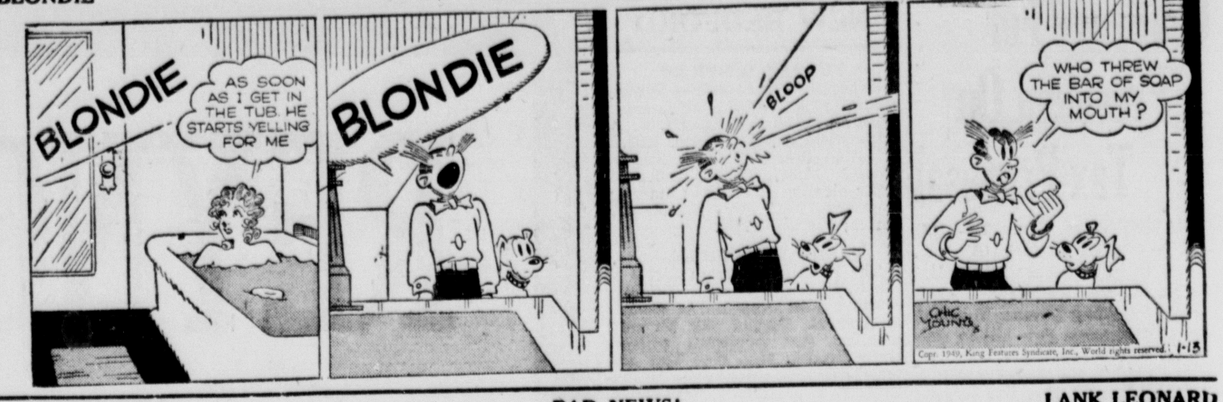

Bennett told Agriculture Secretary Brannan that there is need to complete land capability surveys for the whole country as a source of information in working out future conservation plans. He said:

"The solution of our land problem can be stated simply: use each acre of land under adequate safeguards from erosion and other impoverishing forces for the type of production to which it is best suited."

Leading Basketball Figures Agitate Changing Of Rules

By CHARLES EINSTEIN
(International News Service Sports Writer)

CHICAGO, Jan. 13—Agitation to change the playing rules of basketball has begun again on the heels of news of the attempted "fix" of Tuesday night's George Washington - Manhattan game in New York.

Some of the leading figures in basketball have, in off-the-record statements, tabbed the game itself as a major contributory cause for wide-open betting practices.

It has been pointed out that "control" of the game is too simple a matter; that point "spreads" are often too appealing a lure to the average player, who can make himself $500 without "throwing" a game, merely by doing his bit to control the final margin of victory.

Restore Center Jump

For these, and for other reasons, many coaches are out to reform the game—to restore the center jump and to amend the personal-foul rule.

Abe Saperstein, owner-coach of the Harlem Globe-Trotters and one of the more astute gentlemen in the game, is one example of rebellion against modern-day basketball, which two years ago was called "racehorse" but now is more popularly referred to as "adding machine" play.

"Basketball is a team game," Saperstein declared, "and if there is anything 'team' about grabbing the ball and throwing it at the basket for 40 or 48 minutes, then I've yet to see it.

"Believe it or not," Saperstein continued, with a tinge of irony, "There actually are some good defensive ball players in the game today. When a game ends up with a score of 105 to 104 it's just hard to spot them, that's all."

The thing that would serve most to restore the game to a sane scale, in Sapersteins' opinion, would be the return of the center jump after every basket. That would produce heightened emphasis on team play and actual preconceived formations; when you heighten the effect of the team, of course, you diminish the effect of the individual; and it's the individuals that gamblers like to deal with, so one can draw one's own conclusions.

An amended personal-foul rule would, according to many basketball men, have an important bearing on improving the game, too. Many gamblers now set up their "lines" in terms of fouls; if a certain team or certain star player become known for roughness, then it is often easy to chart the probable progress of a game. Certain stars, for instance, nearly always foul out, and betting men are certain to take this into consideration.

Change Foul Rule

Most practical suggestion towards amending the personal-foul rule would toss the rule that a player must leave the game after five personals. Instead, the maximum number of personals would be lowered, say, to three, and for every foul thereafter the injured party would be given an extra free throw.

While still keeping the game in bounds, this would enable a team to make the most of its manpower at all times—and might prove a knockout drop for preconceived point "lines".

Ward Lambert, formerly coach at Purdue and commissioner of the National Basketball league, and Tug Wilson, commissioner of the Big Ten and secretary of the N.C.A.A., are among those who have voiced approval for the fouls amendment.

Red Wings Pad Hockey Lead

The Red Wings put additional daylight between themselves and the field last night by winning while second place Boston was losing.

Detroit soundly whipped the New York Rangers, 4 to 1, before 13,834 fans in New York, thus keeping the Rangers mired in the league cellar.

Pittsburgh Wins

Boston, meanwhile, blew a first period lead and finally lost, 5 to 3, to the Montreal Canadiens.

In the American league, three teams were victorious by one-point margins.

Pittsburgh defeated Hershey, 2 to 1.

Grovers-'Gators Battle Friday

GROVE CITY, Jan. 12.—Weakened by the loss of two first-string guards, Grove City's passers will have to regain their shooting accuracy to defeat an ancient and highly regarded rival when Allegheny invades the Grover gym Friday night. The JayVee squads of the rival schools will meet in a preliminary game.

Tom Fitzgerald, freshman from New York who has started every game this season, and Dave Bock of Erie, veteran letter-winner, are incapacitated for at least another week. Coach Jim Loveless will use another pair of freshmen, Danny Hill of Clairton and Emerson Weaver of Jamestown, both potential scorers, in an effort to outpoint the visiting 'Gators. Weaver made his first appearance last week, after nursing an injured ankle, and was used at center. Danny Hill was impressive in the Carnegie Tech game.

In the spring, the only Olympian missing will be Barney Ewell, who has retired. Mel Patton, the California comet, will be running again and Harrison Dillard, the Olympic champion, will compete often during the indoor and outdoor seasons.

Japanese Do Not Have Enough Room To Play

By JOHN RICH
(International News Service Sports Writer)

TOKYO, Jan. 13. — Baseball's biggest problem in Japan is elbow room.

In the post-war baseball boom Japanese are pushing one another out of the way to get a chance to play the game.

There's not much room to shag flies in a rocky, mountainous country no larger than California—a country where 80,000,000 people must live.

Pretty Crowded

But the Japanese are doing the best they can. It's not unusual to see four ball games going on at one time on a single field. Home plates are put down in each of the four corners and the outfielders of one game stand back to back with the infielders of another.

Every possible sandlot or vacant space is crowded with ball players from morning to night. Every factory has at least one team. Some have many more.

Yomiuri, the Tokyo newspaper that sponsors the professional "Giants" ball team, has 20 other teams in an employees league.

The Japanese sports writers boast that more people are playing baseball today in Japan than in the United States and they are undoubtedly correct.

Sponge Rubber Ball

Most of Japan's sandlot baseball is played with a sponge rubber ball about the size of the regulation ball. This cuts down on the need for equipment such as gloves and mitts and permits players to crowd together without too many cracked heads.

The Japanese are not fussy about whether they have a regulation field to play on. They make the most of whatever space they have.

During lunch hour in mid-town Tokyo Japanese office workers and room boys at the American billets crowd the narrow alley ways toplay catch.

On clear days there are always hundreds in the outer grounds of Hirohito's Imperial Palace playing catch or pick-up games.

Baseball definitely has supplanted "sumo"—wrestling—as the national pastime.

The Lehigh University football team ranked second to army last year in rushing offense among Eastern grid teams.

KINDA RUSHING THE SEASON

HARRISBURG, Jan. 13.—(INS)—The 1949 small game season will open November 1 and the deer season November 28.

The opening of the bear season will be announced after sportsmen have made their wishes known, the state game commission said.

Ross L. Feffler, of Pittsburgh, has been re-elected to steer the State Game Commission through 1949.

Collegiate football was not responsible for one death during 1948.

SHORT SPORTS

Ten track events, including the Penn Relays and the Middle Atlantic championships, have been booked for the Lehigh University varsity track squad according to Paul E. Short, business manager of athletics. All meets will be held away from home this spring. The track will not be available until construction of the annex to Taylor gymnasium is completed sometime late this fall.

L. E. "Dutch" Meyer of Texas Christian has been elected president of the Football Coaches' Association to succeed Harvey Harman of Rutgers.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

SPORTS EDITOR'S NOTE: Mr. Paul W. Fombelle, R.D. 9, has written President Herman Steinbrink, Lawrence County Sportsman's association, concerning the deer situation. He is opposed to an open doe season in 1949. For the purpose of ascertaining the opinion of land-owners and hunters as to whether or not there should be an open doe season, Mr. Fombelle's letter, is published. Land-owners and hunters should provide the information asked for in the box, contained in this column.)

Mr. Fombelle's letter follows:

New Castle, Penna.
January 12, 1948.

Mr. Herman Steinbrink,
President,
Lawrence County Sportsman's Association,
New Castle, Pa.

Dear Sir:

Since coming home from my annual deer hunt I read in the papers that the kill of legal bucks fell off this year close to five thousands. This truly is astounding, but to my way of thinking exactly what you may expect.

Your open doe season of '47 surely left many a fine speciman of buck lying in the woods, dead victims of so sportsmen (I do not mean true sportsmen but I do mean meat hunters hiding under the guise of woodsmen.)

It is rumored that we hunters may expect an open season on doe for '49.

Do tell me how so many hunters know the difference between a doe and a button buck. I've hunted deer for better than twenty years and I don't know the difference between a running doe and a running button buck. The button buck that escaped the slaughter of '47, normally should have been a spike this year '48, and not less than a Y or four point the season of '49. Now then, you shot thousands of button bucks in '47 which should, if living, be our legal buck kill of '49, but they are dead, pray tell me what you expect to kill next year. Reduce the doe again, taking with it again the staggering kill of button bucks. Where do you expect that prize ten point buck to come from? You have to let him mature and that is not until he becomes four or five years old.

I hunted bear in Warren County this year and saw twenty-seven deer in two days, two of which were four point bucks. Is that too many deer to see per day? You may thing so but I surely don't agree. My hunt for buck was in Potter County.

Yes, I was fortunate to have bagged a three point and to have seen quite a number of does (some of which via the law of average were button bucks) but believe me, I did not see that many doe that I would contribute my support to an open doe season, for the winter of '49. What is the average woodsman hunting for, a measly four point or a prize ten point fit for any hunters den?

If and when the time comes for an open doe season it is my hope that a weight limit be placed on the doe shot. To make this more stringent we should deputize every third hunter in the woods. Let him be a man of forty-five years of age or over, of good repute and known by the alderman or lawful agent dispensing licenses, such to be. He receives no pay, but out of respect of the sport he loves to pursue, see that the law is respected and that th hallowed privilege of deer hunting is preserved. This surely would make hunters careful to look before they shot. In your normal doe season too many shoot then look.

I read on the 1948-1949 Hunting Regulations on this last page, this Pledge:

Conservation Pledge—I give my pledge as an American to save and faithfully to defend from waste the natural resources of my country—its soil and minerals, its forests, waters and wildlife.

I am waiting your reply and I surely thing that if I as a hunter take this pledge, surely the Pennsylvania Game Commission, the sponsor of such a pledge should above all, respect the pledge they ask othrs to observe.

No doe season for 1949, let the button bucks live, grow and thrive into a mantel prize.

Yours for good hunting

LOUIS TO MEET CHARLES-SAVOLD WINNER IN JUNE

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—(INS)—Joe Louis will defend his heavyweight title against the winner of an Ezzard Charles-Lee Savold fight.

A definite announcement to this effect was made at the annual Boxing Writers dinner last night by Col. Eddie Eagan, chairman of the New York Boxing Commission.

Eagan said he had telephoned Louis at Topeka and the champion had assured him he would defend his title next June with either Charles or Savold in the other corner.

Eagan advocated at the dinner a nation-wide youth program sponsored by the American Legion such as exists in baseball.

Crack Down On Jeannette Fans

JEANNETTE, Pa., Jan. 13.—(INS)—Basketball fans in Jeannette today had their choice—either behave like sportsmen at Jeannette high school games or stay out.

The school board gave Coach Joseph Churchman "full authority" over the gym and with it goes the power to have police eject any fan who causes a disturbance.

Fans will not be permitted to yell insults at players, coaches or referees. Nor will they be permitted to boo a player who is shooting a foul.

The board threatened to play without spectators if unsportsmen-like conduct continues.

Banchansky's Foul Is Winning Margin

A rematch between Westminster College basketball team, and St. Francis of Loretto, appears today, to be the dream of any college cage promoter. The teams have met twice this season, and each game has been decided by the margin of one point.

The "Frankies" gained sweet revenge, for a 57-56 defeat, suffered at New Wilmington a week ago, by edging the Titans 55 to 54, last night at Duquense Garden, in the first game of a collegiate basketball doubleheader.

Dukes Top "Covies"

Geneva College held mighty Duquense on even terms for two periods but faltered in the second half and lost 55 to 40 in the second game.

George Banchansky, blond freshman center from Homestead, sunk the game winning foul shot for St. Francis with 7 seconds to play in the game to give Coach "Skippy" Hughes' outfit the victory. It was Banchansky's eleventh point for the evening and made him "Frankie" high scorer.

Titans Take Lead

Titan Captain Chet Dembinski, hooped in 7 field goals around the basket, and added 4 fouls to take game scoring honors. Three other Westminster starters, Jones, Abraham and McCullough netted 11 points each.

St. Francis jumped into a 2 to 0 lead after 2½ minutes of scoreless play. The "Frankies" led 12 to 9 at quarter, but Westminster tied it up at 22 all after 4 minutes of the second quarter. The Titans notched 21 markers in the second period and led 30-26 at halftime.

St. Francis took a five-point lead early in the third period before the Titans could gain a point. The Frankies led by 8 points at one time and had a 44-40 advantage as play in the final period got underway.

Titans Comeback

Westminster made a game comeback and Dembinski tied the score at 54 to 54 with 1½ minutes remaining on a nice pass from McCullough. Not a spectator was comfortable in his seat as the teams jockeyed for the basket that would mean victory. With 7 second left, Don McCullough committed his fifth personal foul and Banchansky, after being convinced that it would be wise to shoot it rather than take the ball out of bounds, calmly swished the winning shot. The hero's parents were the closest spectators to the winning basket and made no attempt to conceal their pride in their son and the team's win.

McCullough Outstanding

"Ozark" McCullough played an outstanding game, offensively and defensively for the Titans. He received almost every ball that Westminster got under the Frankie bankboard and threw accurate passes to set up several Westminster scores.

The Titans play host to Bethany Saturday night at New Wilmington.

City-County Loop Meeting Tonight

All managers of teams in the city-county basketball league, and those wanting to enter teams, are to meet at the Elks club at 7:30 o'clock tonight, with President Art Mittler and the league officials.

The Universal Pottery AA. K. Pulaski and Bessemer Legion teams have made overtures to the league for franchises. Several other teams are also said to be interested in joining the popular loop.

The Ellwood City VFW team defeated the Eagles club last night at Ellwood 57 to 42. The Alpha Sigma Phi and Ecclesian club game was called off until a later date.

Chandler Fines Durocher $500

Freddy Fitzsimmons Also Fined $500, Giants Fined $2,000 In Tampering Case

Happy Chandler

CINCINNATI, Jan. 13.—(INS)—Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler today levied fines totaling $3,000, $500 of it against New York Giants Manager Leo Durocher, in rendering his decision on the Freddy Fitzsimmons "tampering" case.

Fitzsimmons, Boston Braves coach whose shift to the New York Giants last fall precipitated Chandler's investigation, also was fined $500 and suspended for a one month period, from March 1 to April 1 of this year.

The Giants club was fined $2,000.

Gives Warning

Chandler added that any future cases of "tampering." Which under baseball law is the dealing for a player's services by one club while he is still under contract to another team, would receive "more severe penalties" than those he handed out today.

"Except for the fact that Coach Fitzsimmons has had long and honorable service in baseball," Chandler added, 'The commissioner would have deprived the New York club of his services for the entire 1949 season."

As it is, Fitzsimmons will not be allowed to report to the Giants' spring training headquarters until April 1, and under the terms of the suspension imposed by Chandler may not serve the club in any capacity until that time.

Only one coach, the veteran Bob Rutherford, Sr., owns a longer tenure than Leo Houck on Penn State's all-veteran athletic coaching staff. Rutherford joined the staff a year before Houck gave up professional fighting "to become a college boy."

Game Commission Seeks Increased Hunting Rates

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 13.—(INS)—One of the chief questions to be answered on game conservation issues during this session of the Pennsylvania legislature will be the proposed price increase of resident and non-resident hunting licenses.

The Pennsylvania Game Commission has asked sportsmen for the increase to pay for "higher costs and to provide better hunting in Pennsylvania."

To achieve better hunting, more food, cover, protection and game-stocking will be necessary. The present $2 paid for a resident hunter's license the commission claims, meant only as much as $1 did 15 years ago—or in 1927 when the $2 fee first was charged.

Increase Necessary

A continuation of the game commission's present program without improvements, would cost about $3,200,000, which is nearly twice what the commission receives now from the state's 850,000 licensed hunters.

They believe an increase is also necessary for the out-of-state hunters, who now pay $15 for a license which entitles non-residents to hunt both small and large game.

Last February, the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's clubs passed a resolution urging the legislature to increase the resident fee to $3.15 for small and large game and the non-resident fee to $10.25 for small game and $20.25 for big game.

Then, apparently, they decided even this wouldn't be enough to improve conditions in Pennsylvania, and in October they changed the resolution, suggesting a $3.65 license fee for residents, and a flat $25 license fee for non-residents, to hunt both large and small game.

To the claim of organizations that such a fee would be too high for the poorer and youngsters, the commission answered:

"If the fee were raised to $3.65 this would only be one cent a day."

Propose Three Steps

The game commission asserts that one of three steps must be taken:

1. Curtail the present program drastically, therefore assuring less game stocked.

2. Do just about the same work being done at present, with the federation's February fee suggestions.

3. Expand the commission's work, with the federation's October resolution approved. This would provide additional funds to assure improved food, cover, protection and more game stocked in 1949 and future years.

Provide More Game

Last year the commission was able to reach the approximate 3 million dollar operation cost only through an increased number of fines, sales of forest products, federal aid and money saved during the war years

If the General Assembly approves the October recommendation, the commission says it will be able to work with about $3,700,000, giving them an additional $500,000 to provide more game and all around better hunting in Pennsylvania.

White Sox Sell Tresh To Indians

Veteran Catcher 35, Goes To Cleveland Team, White Sox Promised Player

CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—(INS)—Catcher Mike Tresh today became the seventh members of the over 30 club to be discharged by the Chicago White Sox under their new grave-to-the-cradle regime.

Tresh, who is 35, was sold to the Cleveland Indians. He had ten years with the White Sox and a lifetime .249 batting average to recommend him.

Promised Player

In connection with the transaction, Sox General Manager Frank Lane stated that Cleveland President Bill Veeck had promised the White Sox first crack at the next player the Indians decide to cut loose. Lane more than hopes it'll be a young infielder.

Reviewing the Sox doings during the past eight-week period, Lane observed that although the team has released ("disposed of" is the term he used) seven players, all over 31 years of age, the Chicago American league firm also has acquired eight newcomers, only one of whom is over 30.

The daily double will be restored for the 1949 racing season at Garden State Park, it was announced by Walter H. Donovan, executive vice president of the Garden State Racing Association.

Boxing Awards Made At New York Dinner

—Acme Telephoto

New York—Lightweight champion Ike Williams, Trenton, N. J., holds the Edward J. Neil, plaque he received at the 10th annual Boxing Writers association dinner last night. Named "Fighter of the Year" he received the award for contributing most to boxing in and out of the ring, during 1948.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—(INS)—Boxing, the "sick man" of the Broadway amusement belt, got quite a going over until well into the early hours today at the 10th annual dinner of the Boxing Writers Association.

New York Boxing Chairman Eddie Eagan, National Boxing Association President Abe J. Greene, 20th Century Club General Manager Harry Markson and others spoke favorably of boxing's achievements during the old year. And glowingly of its prospects in the new.

Williams Gets Placque

Meanwhile, world's lightweight champion Like Williams, of Trenton, N. J., waited through five hours of this in order to receive his two 1948 awards.

Most choice of these was the Edward J. Neil Memorial placque, Williams' tribute from the Boxing Writers as boxing's outstanding figure in 1948. Ike's second trophy represented the "Ring" magazine's nomination for the same honor.

Former Postmaster-General James A. Farley, former boxing commission, presented the James J. Walker trophy to Dan Morgan, veteran manager, for his long and meritorious contribution to the sport.

Rookie-of-the-year honors went to ex-Marine Attilo (Rocky) Castellani, Luzerne, Pa., middleweight, unbeaten in two years. Marcel Cerdan, France, was acclaimed for the year's "outstanding performance."

NOTRE DAME STAR END PLANS WEDDING

TURTLE CREEK, Pa., Jan. 13.—(INS)—Miss Lois B. Newyahr of Turtle Creek has received an engagement ring from Notre Dame's All-American end Leon Hart.

The 21-year-old brunette said Hart slipped the ring on her finger during the Christmas vacation. The engagement follows a romance which began when they were schoolmates at Turtle Creek high school.

New York Stocks

STOCK MARKET FAVORS UPSIDE

Dealings In Market During Morning Trading Are Reported Quiet

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—(INS)—The stock market favored the upside in a continuation of quiet dealings early today.

A few stocks were strong, but the rank and file of the list failed to move far from previous closing levels.

National Steel was a feature with a run-up of 1 1-4 points to 90 1-2. Mathieson Chemical responded to a favorable 1948 earnings report with an advance of 3-4 to 40.

Old-line pivotal favorites did little. U. S. Steel edged up 1-8 to 71 3-4; Standard Oil of New Jersey was up 1-4 at 72 1-4, and Chrysler was off 1-8 at 56 5-8.

Rails were mostly higher. Union Pacific gained 3-8 to 85; Illinois Central was up 1-4 at 29 3-8, and Chesapeake and Ohio was up 1-4 at 34 1-4.

Pittsburgh Editor Addresses Group

Miss Elizabeth Dafflinger, Of Pittsburgh Catholic, Speaks To Altar-Rosary Society

An inspiring address was given by Miss Elizabeth Dafflinger, of Pittsburgh, assistant editor of The Pittsburgh Catholic, Wednesday evening at the Altar-Rosary Society meeting of St. Vitus church.

The group met in the church meeting rooms, and the session opened with the recitation of the Holy Rosary, which was followed by Miss Dafflinger's talk on Catholic Action.

Remarks were also heard from the spiritual director, Rev. Fr. Nicholas DeMita, pastor of St. Vitus church. He commended the speaker for her excellent talk, and for the large group attending.

The rosary of the evening was awarded to Mrs. Rose Costa.

At the conclusion of the program, the committee served a delicious lunch, and they included: Mrs. Joseph Bordonaro, Mrs. Frank Bordonaro, Mrs. Ralph Audino, Mrs. A. Budellazze, Mrs. William Bullano, and Mrs. N. Bucci.

February 9, is the next regular meeting, but on Sunday, January 30, members will attend the 9 o'clock mass in a body and will receive Holy Communion.

Three Doctors To Talk On Cancer

Three Lawrence County physicians have been scheduled to take active parts in the American Cancer society's continually expanding educational program during the week.

Dr. H. E. Helling will address the W. C. T. U. of Ellwood at the home if Mrs. Janis Boyd, Foch street, Friday evening. Mr. Nelson Runyan will accompany all of the physicians and show an educational film in connection with the talks.

Dr. Thomas Uber will be the main speaker at a dinner meeting of the Ellwood Lions club in the municipal building at 6 o'clock, Monday, January 17.

On January 18, Dr. J. Wesley Post will talk to the Ellwood Alpha Gradale meeting in the old city building at 8:30.

The local speaking program of the cancer society is part of a nation-wide plan to have the people better informed on the symptoms and cures of the dreaded disease.
